Mexico Will Not Break Cuban Ties, Lopez Mateos Says

Says Nation Wants to be Friendly With All Republics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, in his final State of the Union message, made clear today that Mexico will maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Lopez Mateos said Mexico's attitude was based on "serious doubts" on the advisability of judging Venezuela's charges against Cuba in the light of the inter-American reciprocal assistance treaty.

The Organization of American States in July called on all Latin-American nations to impose sanctions on the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba. The decision was based largely on Cuba's shipment of arms and supplies to the terrorist underground in Venezuela.

Cordial Relations With All Lopez Mateos, in his speech prepared for delivery before a joint session of Congress, said Mexico has a "high concept" of its relations with all of the American republics and does not feel that "such affinities as history, race, and ideals could be erased by passing circumstances."

"We want to maintain with them clean, cordial and fruitful relations," Lopez Mateos said. "The Mexican president said that he and President Johnson will meet at El Paso, Tex., Sept. 25, in a ceremony marking the return to Mexico of the strip of land known as El Chamizal. It is a 400-foot piece of land originally Mexican, but cut off when the Rio Grande changed course a century ago."

Help for British Honduras Lopez Mateos said settlement of this dispute was his "greatest satisfaction" in his six years in office. He leaves office Dec. 1.

Lopez Mateos, in his message, also: —Said Mexico will continue helping British Honduras strive for independence.

—Predicted that the Colorado River salinity problem, which he termed the only serious one affecting U.S.-Mexican relations, will be solved late this year or by 1965.

—Said Mexico no longer is an underdeveloped nation, inasmuch as his regime has surpassed all of his promises for economic development.

—Stressed the stability of the Mexican peso and predicted Mexico's "healthy structure and diversified economy" will keep it that way for years to come.

—And praised the memory of the late President John F. Kennedy, saying it will always fill a special place among his Mexican people because of his cordial expressions and memorable deeds toward Mexico.

Benefits to Elderly May Be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces in the Senate today pinned their hopes for adoption of a Social Security health care plan this year on a revised version of the King-Anderson proposal.

The new proposal was worked out and introduced late Monday after a series of fast-breaking conferences in the office of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Democratic vice-presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey, fresh from conferences with President Johnson in Texas, participated in the strategy meetings.

Offered by Gore The revised plan was submitted and made the Senate's pending business by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who had been sponsoring the original King-Anderson measure as an amendment to a House-passed bill.

It thus will be up for the initial test in the Senate's consideration of the House bill, which would raise basic Social Security benefits but add no health care provisions.

The King-Anderson proposal, pushed by Democrats for several years, would provide hospital, nursing home care, diagnostic services and home health visits for Social Security recipients over 65.

Sponsors said a revision of cash benefits in the new plan should give the Senate a stronger bargaining position in the conference with the House if it is adopted in the Senate.

Long's Amendment They said also that it should give them a better chance to defeat a rival amendment offered by Sen. Russell P. Long, D-La., Monday in a surprise move.

Long's amendment would provide a 7 per cent increase in cash benefits, instead of the 5 per cent voted by the House. It

Hitler March Marked By Germans on Both Sides of Red Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Germans on both sides of the Red wall in this old capital of Hitler's Reich today observed the fateful day a quarter of a century ago when the dictator sent his army crashing into Poland, setting off the worst war in history.

On the West side of the wall, it was a day honoring the soldier dead of the World War II Allies, including the Russians. On the other side, an East German rally heard Communist leader Walter Ulbricht ask for full recognition for his regime by all who fought Hitler.

Labor Leaders Back Johnson in Race

Hope Members Will Support President for Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders are expected to urge some 12 million union members today to vote for President Johnson in November.

While spokesmen for the big labor federation refrained from predicting endorsement of Johnson in advance of the Executive Council and General Board meeting, there was no reason to doubt endorsement would be forthcoming.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has said he believes the Republican candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, wants to see the labor movement eliminated. Union officials down the line have been pelting Goldwater in their speeches, statements and publications.

A union official who usually votes Republican, Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, already has endorsed Johnson.

Oppose Goldwater Hutcheson, a member of both the AFL-CIO Executive Council and the General Board, told the President in a letter this was the first time he had endorsed a Democratic candidate.

Sources close to the AFL-CIO top echelon said sentiment for a strong endorsement of Johnson is unanimous.

"It is not that they are so completely in love with Johnson but that they are so strongly against Goldwater," said one informed source.

In past presidential elections official AFL-CIO endorsement has gone to the Democratic candidate, although some officials, such as Hutcheson, worked for the Republican ticket.

Others Leave GOP Beside Hutcheson, two other Executive Council members who usually vote Republican have abandoned the GOP. They are Lee W. Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Association, and James A. Suffridge, president of the Retail Clerks International Association.

The AFL-CIO leaders will hold a conference Wednesday on civil rights with the aim of encouraging union action at the city, state and national levels to implement the new Civil Rights Act.

While the conference is not specifically designed to deal with the problem of so-called backlash, some labor spokesmen have expressed concern that resentment toward the administration's civil rights record might swing some labor votes to Goldwater.

Pakistan Agrees to Indian Truce Proposal

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Pakistan has accepted India's suggestion to the U.N. Security Council for a gentlemen's agreement to avoid clashes along the cease-fire line in divided Kashmir, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said today.

The agreement follows several months of almost daily firing along the U.N. cease-fire line.

shown that we can pull the tail of the Russians."

Artime said the radar station was defended by a garrison of 150 Cuban soldiers and three Soviet officers. The station was selected, he said, because it was used to detect Cubans fleeing their country by boat, especially those coming from Oriente and Camaguey provinces.

Artime asserted that once the refugees were spotted, speedy Soviet-built patrol boats were sent after them. He said the boats usually were commanded by a Russian and the refugees were always shot to death while crouching in their boats.

Took No Prisoners No prisoners were ever taken, and bodies of women and children have been seen floating in the area, Artime declared.

He said the radar station and a lighthouse were located on Cabo Cruz, at the western tip of the southern coast of Oriente Province.

Artime spoke at the home of a Cuban friend here in Panama. He said he was leaving Panama for his headquarters in the Caribbean, but declined to say where it is.

Artime, 35, was a leader of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

Titan 3A Rocket Fails in 3rd Stage To Achieve Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Titan 3A military space rocket blasted off on its maiden test flight today but failed to propel its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform.

Tracking stations lost radio contact with the rocket 13 minutes after it was launched.

Nearly two hours later, the Air Force announced that the third stage had failed to achieve an intended orbit.

Nevertheless, an official reported that 95 per cent of the test objectives were achieved on this initial flight for a rocket which is being developed to help give the United States military superiority in space.

4 Arrested in Trooper's Death

RAEFORD, N.C. (AP) — Four Negroes were charged today in the slaying of a North Carolina patrolman who attempted to arrest one of them late Monday.

Trooper W. T. Herbin's body was found in a cornfield off U.S. 401 near his patrol car. He had been shot three times in the forehead, with bullets fired from his own revolver.

Raeftord Police Chief L. W. Stanton said Willie Smith Jr., about 35, confessed to the shooting after several hours of questioning. Stanton said Smith was charged with murder.

Charged as accessories to murder were Will Allison, Albert Reeves and Rudy Clegg Bruton, all of Pinehurst. Smith and one of the others were held in jail in Raeftord. The other two were taken to nearby Moore County.

Weapons and Bombs Found By Policemen

Headquarters of Negro Group in Philadelphia Raided

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The national headquarters of Negro group was raided by police inside the riot-torn section of North Philadelphia, where quiet reigned today after a weekend of looting and pillaging.

The four-square mile area still was under tight security, with a 24-hour curfew in effect and more than 1,200 policemen on patrol.

Mayor James H. J. Tate said the restrictions will remain in effect at least until Labor Day.

In a statement late Monday night, the mayor said the area was "extremely quiet," with even less activity than normal. "I think we are out of the woods," he said, "but we are still watching the situation."

100 Policemen A squad of 100 policemen made the raid Monday upon Cultural Center, two blocks from where the riots broke out late Friday night.

Inspector Millard Meers, who led the raid, said police found flammable fluids used for making fire bombs, a used revolver, two bayonets and a knife. They arrested Shaky Muhammad, described by Meers as a former member of the Black Muslims.

'Worst Catastrophe in History'

Scientist Envisions Worldwide Famine Within Next 2 Decades

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (AP) — A world famine striking "hundreds of millions or even billions of human beings" is near, a scientist-economist warned today.

"It will be the most colossal catastrophe in history," declared Dr. Raymond Ewell, vice president for research, State University of New York at Buffalo.

Such a famine in Asia, Africa and South America by the 1970s and later seems almost inevitable as expanding population outstrips food production, he told the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Ewell said the only immediate step open to avert it is for the United States and Europe to make outright Good Samaritan gifts of millions of tons of fertilizers to increase local food yields.

The deadline even for succeeding this way is only a few years away, he said.

Birth control is the ultimate answer, Dr. Ewell said, but its effects on the food-population problem will be slow. Unless birth control is applied, however, the famine would still come regardless of boosts in food production, he said.

"It is hard for us sitting in rich, comfortable, overfed America to realize that the greatest disaster is just around the corner."

"Historians of the future may remark on whether it was more important to have worked towards putting a man on the moon during the 1960s, or to have worked towards averting the world famine of the 1970s," he said.

By present trends, "it seems likely that the famine will reach serious proportions in India, Pakistan and China in the early 1970s, followed by Indonesia, Iran, Turkey, Egypt and several other countries within a few years, and then followed by most of the other countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America by 1980," Dr. Ewell predicted. Population in these areas will increase by about one billion persons in 20 years, but food output has not been increasing, he said.

Stable governments could not exist under such famines, he said. People would be too weak to work, be affected mentally, yet modern medicine would keep many starving people from dying of diseases.

Urges Higher Yields "There is still time for a crash program that might avert the situation — by supplying fertilizers" that could boost yields of rice, wheat, corn and other crops by 50 to 100 per cent more, he said.

Plants to produce the millions of tons of needed fertilizer would cost about $5 billion — "about one-tenth the cost of putting a man on the moon," Dr. Ewell said.

Dr. Ewell said birth rates of about two to nearly three per cent of population per year in those countries must be reduced to about one per cent if ultimate disaster is to be avoided.

Michigan at Primary Polls

Near-Record Vote Seen; New Court Among Big Issues

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan voters mark primary election ballots today for offices ranging from governor to constable — including one category that didn't exist before.

In what was expected to be one of the largest primary turnouts in recent years, the voters selected candidates for a U.S. Senate seat, 19 congressional offices and a 148-member legislature.

Also on the ballot was the newly created State Court of Appeals, established under a revised constitution that went into effect this year.

High Vote Forecast Elections Director as many as 1,250,000 voters might cast primary ballots, largest total since 1952.

The near-record turnout was forecast despite a strike that has left Detroit without its two daily newspapers for more than seven weeks.

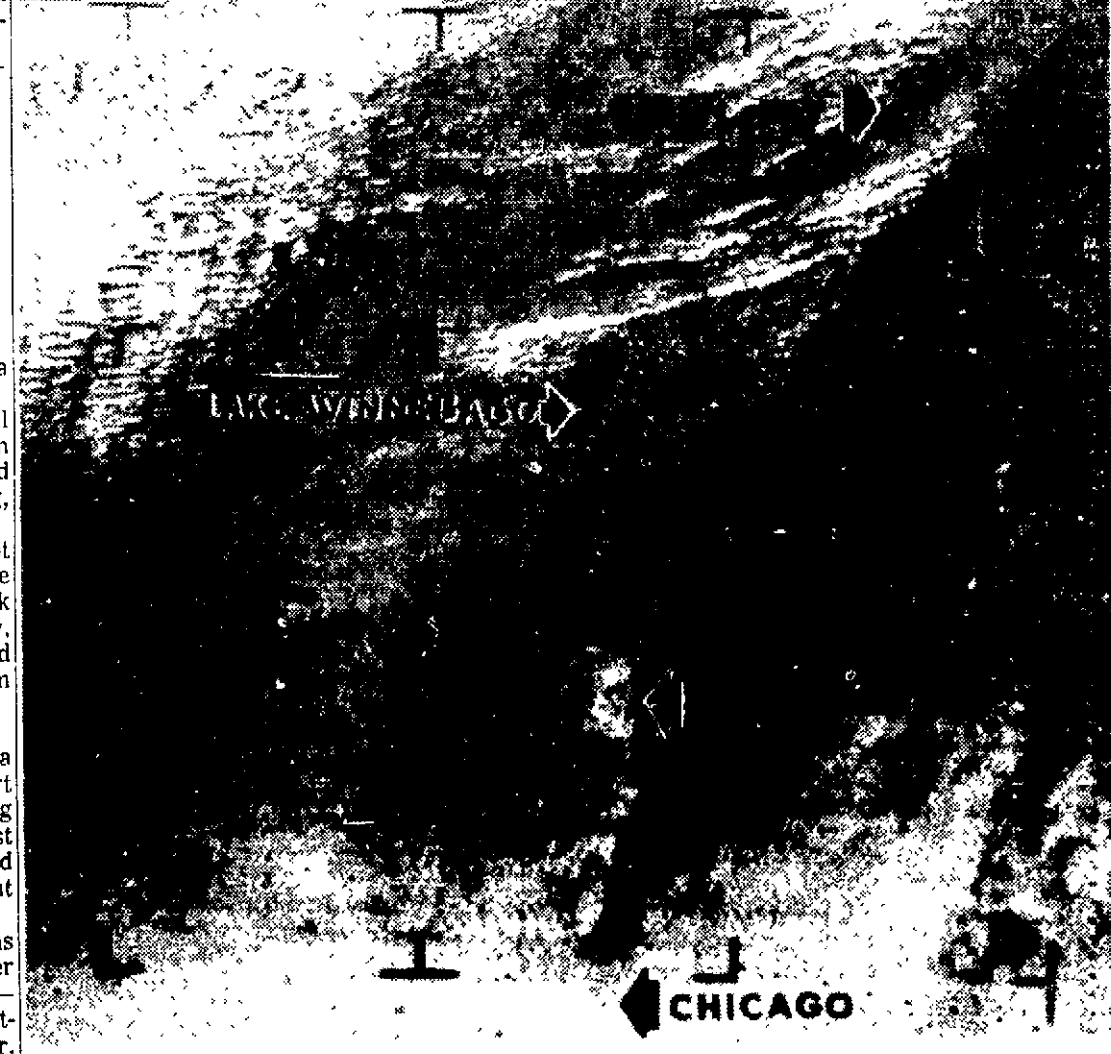

The balloting stirred up interest because congressional and legislative reapportionment have matched incumbent against incumbent.

It also is the forerunner to a November general election which could swing control of Michigan's House of Representatives from the Republicans to the Democrats, and cut sharp-

Finishing Redwood Siding

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q After the recent construction of our porch, for which we used redwood siding, we found several places that appear dirty from handprints with grease, or other soiled spots. We would like to know how to remove these, before applying a natural finish stain on the redwood. Should all the wood be cleaned in any way before finishing?

A: All types of wood surfaces should always be absolutely clean before any finish or coating is applied. Try hosing down the siding to remove the soil. For stubborn grime, scrub with a warm, mild detergent solution, followed by ample rinsing. If any grease remains, cover these areas with a thick paste made of powdered whiting and a non-flammable liquid spot remover; when dry, brush off and replace with fresh paste. Repeat treatment if necessary.

I suggest obtaining a copy of the leaflet, "Exterior Finishes for Redwood," available from California Redwood Association, 617 Montgomery St., San Francisco 11, Calif. It contains detailed information on application of various types of finish stain removal, etc.

Q A year ago we used masking tape to protect aluminum window frames while painting the siding. The tape has now hardened from exposure and baking by the sun so it is impossible to remove. We can't use a razor or scraper to loosen the tape because of the shape of the window frames. Is there any preparation that will soak the tape off without damage to the frame?

A: Try using a nonflammable liquid spot remover as a solvent for the hardened masking tape, allowing it to soak on for awhile. Peel off when softened, then rub off any residue with finest steel wool.

Q Several years ago I saw an item about getting rid of earwigs. It had something about placing special tin cans in the yard as a trap. The insects could not escape from the can after they got in. My backyard is alive with earwigs. At night there are thousands all over the front steps, front of the house, under the rear porches. What is this tin can method?

A: Sorry to day I'm completely unfamiliar with the tin can method you mention for getting rid of earwigs. Perhaps a reader can help out with this.

Earwigs hide in the soil during the day and forage at night, feeding on all kinds of food and filth. Use a prepared earwig insecticide, following label directions carefully. They are available at garden supplies dealers or where insecticides are sold. Five per cent chlordane (two pounds per 1,000 square feet) or five per cent DDT (2 1/2 pounds per 1,000 square feet) can be applied with a hand or power duster.

Or use a spray of 40 per cent chlordane or 50 per cent DDT (four ounces of either in two gallons of water, per 1,000 square feet). Send five cents (no stamps) to Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., 20402, for a copy of leaflet No. AI 77:75, "European Earwig, How to Control It Around the Home."

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

RISING GENERATION

Dear Louise: I have three children and I'm trying to teach them good manners. My husband is the fly in the ointment. He tells me that nowadays, children don't have to rise any more, when older people come into the living room. Has politeness become that chaotic in these modern times?

Louise Davis Answers:

No. Well bred and well mannered children rise when grown people enter a room and they don't sit down until the others do. If children have good reason to leave, they should quietly ask their mother or father, "May I be excused?" If the parent happens to be engaged in conversation, children should not interrupt but wait for the moment when they can politely ask the question. Ordinarily, mothers have priority over the training of children, so I would say you have the edge over your husband who should know better anyway.

WIDOW'S INFORMAL WEDDING

Dear Louise: I am a widow planning to be married to a widower. Is it proper to have a small informal church wedding? Some of my friends say it is all right as long as I don't wear white (which I have no intention of doing). Would it be more proper to be married at the parsonage with just one couple in attendance?

Louise Davis Answers:

Both of your suggestions are equally in good taste. Do which ever you wish.

ever, a deficiency is often caused by bad dieting.

Reducing or not, an adult woman requires a minimum of one tablespoon of fat a day. For the skin's sake, the allowance should be largely devoted to unsaturated, unhydrogenated vegetable oils. Withering skins show marked improvement when treated to a diet, from within and without, of polyunsaturates.

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat & Chin." Use Objective Approach in Selection of Housekeeper

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: My husband simply doesn't earn enough to manage our bills without my help. So I'm going to have to go to work as soon as possible after the birth of my baby, due in a few weeks.

I don't know what to do to make certain my child will be cared for as he should be. I don't want my child to feel unwanted or to be harmed... because I have to work and can't be with him all day. You never know what people will do today, and so many children have been harmed by housekeepers, it seems, that I'm very worried.

MRS. A. P.

Most cases of brutal attack and wholesale neglect of children are caused by their parents or blood relatives, not by people hired to be caretakers. So though you're wise to be concerned about how best to select a trustworthy mother substitute, don't become frantic and anxious or unable to take an objective approach to this.

To make certain your baby will get the care and attention and affection he needs for

When East discarded a heart, South despondently finessed with the jack of clubs, losing to the king. Declarer had to try the heart finesse later, and went down when this finesse failed.

South carefully pointed out that the odds were 20 to 1 against finding all the clubs in the West hand. Even then, he would make the contract if his heart finesse worked. The odds were about 40 to 1 against the fatal club break combined with a losing heart finesse.

It was sad but true. Still, South should make the contract by putting up the ace of clubs at the second trick instead of finessing with the jack.

Appleton Area

Job Total Up

4.8 Per Cent Employment Hike Since Last May

Total employment in the Appleton area is 13,985, a 4.8 per cent increase over three months ago, according to statistics gathered from 60 businesses and industries in this area by the Wisconsin State Employment Service.

Most industrial groups indicated favorable increases in employment, with paper and pulp, machinery, construction and public employment leading with the more substantial increases.

Additional workers were needed primarily to meet summer work schedules and seasonal production peaks. These groups were followed by insurance and service establishments.

Many employers hired graduates of high school students to build up regular work forces. The 13,985 figure is up 639 from May, but is expected to drop by about 145 in September. Of 853 governmental employees, 100 are expected to leave this month, leaving a gain of 40 employees from May.

Manufacturing also is expected to lose 100 of its 8,909 employees, but it hired 301 since May.

Lawrence Says
1964 Campaign
May Serve a Useful Purpose

Should Leave No
Doubts About Public Opinion

WASHINGTON — No matter which way the presidential election turns out, the campaign may serve a useful and constructive purpose.

The arguments advanced could furnish warnings to Russia on how the American people feel about aggression and particularly about the danger of assuming that nuclear scares have produced a "peace at any price" attitude in this country.

On the domestic side, the American people could be made to see that an economic depression and panic are by no means impossible and that preventive measures must be taken at once by the party which is victorious at the polls. For sound arguments will inevitably be recognized. However one may dislike the other fellow's philosophy, one knows in his heart when a valid point has been made.

While demagoguery and distortion will play their part, the final impact on the policies that the successful candidate will have to pursue will become unmistakable after the campaign is over and the final election results have been tabulated.

Take the issue of war or peace. Each side today proclaims its sincere desire to avoid war. But how is it to be accomplished? By extolling pacifism and frightening the American people and by stressing constantly the horrors of war?

Or can the cause of peace be better served if the campaign speakers reveal to the people in all candor just how shifting and bungling policies can actually bring on the war nobody wants?

Bay of Pigs

The Democratic administration's unfortunate handling of the Bay of Pigs invasion is a case in point. It made a profound impression in military circles, where there is a deep-seated feeling that irresolute-ness, vacillation in councils and lack of planning can in deed bring on a worse situation. The blunder in that episode was the failure to let military men run a military operation, while diplomats and bungling advisers stayed the president's hand.

This is precisely the kind of danger that has to be exposed so that a president will not be swayed again by the appeasers or the timidity cliques that have access so often to the man in the White House.

Will the military men be hamstrung in fighting a war? Already there is considerable emphasis in campaign speeches on what is being construed as an effort to let civilians run military operations. History is full of such tragic mistakes.

Nuclear Weapons

On the subject of using nuclear weapons. The military truth is available for the asking. The Communists must never be allowed to think the American people will refuse to let their government use whatever weapon or force is necessary to protect their safety. This is really the most powerful deterrent that can be brought to bear today.

Premier Khrushchev already has announced, in effect, his endorsement of the Democratic ticket in America's presidential campaign. He makes it known that he fears Goldwater, but not Johnson. Why? Does the Communist chief think that he can deceive the Democratic administration and carry on his subversion all over the world and that he can continue to maintain his military posture in Cuba, only 90 miles from our sea coast?

If Khrushchev thinks these things are going to be tolerated as mere "nuisances," he is wrong. The American people will have manifested before the campaign is over that no matter who is elected, they want a change in policy toward Cuba.

Fear of Goldwater

The Communist chieftain's fear of Goldwater, of course, is that the latter may check the Soviet advance by being willing to meet it head on, if necessary. If Goldwater is elected, the American people will have indicated how they feel about a firm foreign policy. Nor will Khrushchev be able to interpret a Johnson victory as a vote for "peace at any price," as did the Kaiser when he resumed his aggressions on the high seas in 1917 after taking too seriously a campaign slogan — "he kept us out of war" — which had won a presidential election in 1916.

On economic issues, the American people also need the debate that's coming. Too many statistics and glowing phrases about prosperity have beclouded the whole business situation. The artificial boom of today cannot last indefinitely. To keep on borrowing money to pay for tax cuts and to continue unbalanced budgets begins sooner or later to weaken confidence both at home and abroad. A concerted loss of confidence is what brings a depression, especially as people eventually do wake up to the fact that the purchasing power of the monetary unit is moving downward.

It is on these issues that the campaign debate can enlighten public opinion. The discussion could prove constructive, and it is bound to influence the policies of the United States. Irrespective of who is elected in November.

'Highway Patrol' Avoids Speeders; Keeps Roadsides Clear of Litter

Special Highway Crew Has Summer Task Of Cleaning Shoulders, Trimming Grass

A highway "patrol," which avoids the traffic violator if at all possible but keeps its eyes sharp for broken bottles and rusty beer cans, has the necessary but unpleasant task of keeping 350 miles of Outagamie County highway clear of litter.

Trash, broken highway guard railings and road surface holes are the "offenders" five teams of county highway "patrolmen" seek in five sectors of the county highway complex.

Crews work on a daily basis to keep the shoulders clear and the roads in good repair. Large "collectable" items are the best can and bottle. Outagamie County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said trash included in this year's $294,000 repair budget.

Projects Completed

Projects completed so far this year include resurfacing of County Trunk C from State 54 in Seymour to County Trunk EE, a total of more than four miles; County Trunk A north of the village limits of Freedom, to County Trunk EE, a total of 4.6 miles;

This week work is expected to be completed on County Trunk CC from JJ to OO, a stretch of 1.6 miles, and a short stretch of roadway on County Trunk J north to U.S. 41.

Beside county trunk resurfacing employees have completed resurfacing of 34 miles of road in villages and towns and have constructed 18 miles of town roads.

Road work still is being done

County Trunks TT, F, C and County Trunks Y and on D. years due to the heavier use of the existing roads. He said on these roads are slated for this fall and resurface work will begin there next season.

Brownson said the construction projects this summer have been "heavier" than in other years because of money saved from snow removal funds last winter.

Panel Says Teachers Should Take Active Stand on Days' Issue

Orientation Week Program Aims Professional Ethics for Educators

Teachers should take a more active stand on political and controversial issues, a panel of Appleton teachers agreed today during a discussion on professional ethics.

The panel was presented to the public school teaching staff in Madison Junior High School as part of the orientation week program.

Panelists were Kenneth Johnston, Wilson Junior High School principal and president of the Appleton Education Association, moderator; Miss Rose Wuest and Mrs. Margaret Doner, elementary teachers; Gene Britton, Wilson guidance counselor, and Adolf Dillon, Appleton High School teacher.

Panelists also said the public image of teachers is affected if they become involved in union activities for salary negotiations, called for work to improve the public image and prestige of the teaching profession, and suggested a school year extending to 46 or 48 weeks.

Have Obligation

"Teachers have an obligation to become involved in the workings of government and to become interested individually in controversial issues," Britton said. He cited a National Education Association standard that teachers should discuss controversial issues objectively in the classroom, but said outside the classroom a teacher should have the full political rights and responsibilities of any other person.

"To create a better image of the teacher, we are going to have to take a more active interest and stand on political issues," Dillon said.

"No one worries about us politically, from the standpoint of what our influence would be," he said. "We should take an active part in city government and politics."

Neutral Tradition

Mrs. Doner noted it has been "rather traditional for the teacher to be neutral on many things," but said it is important to break with this tradition.

"A lot of people think we should be non-controversial in or out of the classroom," Britton said. "We have an obligation to get our feet wet, for our own good as citizens and for the good of the school system."

Panelists urged teachers to express their stand on civil rights. "I think definitely we have a responsibility not to wait until something happens to take a stand on this," Britton said.

"I think we have to be careful on the Goldwater-Johnson question," Dillon said, "but we have to sell the idea of democracy—that is part of our job—and if civil rights is part of the democratic system, we should take a stand on that, too."

Noting that state law now permits teachers groups to gain recognition from school boards as the sole bargaining agent for teachers, Britton said, "I hope in Appleton we can continue to have the mutual respect that has existed between the school board and the teachers, so that we do not have to go to the NLRB, because I think this does affect the public image."

Public Image

"I think we are regarded as a profession, and I think we could lose this in a hurry if we started union activities," he said.

Mrs. Doner questioned whether teachers are really "fully professionally employed." She said she would hope to see an extended school year and a full six-week summer school program so that teachers would be employed in extending their professional services to the community for 46 or 48 weeks of a 52-week year.

Panelists agreed the teaching profession could have a better public image. "Many people in the teaching profession would like to feel the profession has a higher standard in American public opinion," Dillon said.

Expect Early Word On Arlan's Plans

Two Sites Considered Possible For Planned Appleton Area Store

Arlan's department store chain will make an official announcement here "very soon" that it plans to open a $1 million shopping complex in the Appleton area.

Confirmation came today from Herbert Palestine, president of the New York-based firm. The firm has been considering Appleton as the site of one of its new stores for almost two years. It ran into some difficulty last year in the form of a rezoning dispute on the northeast side.

"We are still discussing the land acquisition with your local people," Palestine said, "and hope to have everything consummated any day now."

Two Possible Sites

"We wanted to get the building started three or four months ago but the land proposition held things up," Palestine said.

Palestine's assurance the Appleton area has been selected as the site for an Arlan's department store will add to the commercial buildup on the city's fringe.

It also will mean the area will have three major budget center type department stores in operation. Treasure Island, owned by the J. C. Penney Co., has a shopping complex near the end of W. College Avenue. H. C. Prange Co. recently announced plans for erecting a budget center store west of the College Avenue viaduct.

Ready by Spring?

Should Arlan's be able to start construction on the proposed store this fall, it is expected it will be completed in spring.

Palestine said a 50,000-square-foot Arlan's department store will be opened in Cudahy "early next spring." He said his firm also has plans to open stores in in a panel discussion on the theme of the school, "Man and the Contemporary World." Bishop Alton was moderator.

The program this evening will include an audio visual workshop from 7 to 7:50 under the direction of the Rev. Donald Stannard of Mayville, and a special worship at 8 p.m.

Excellence Sought By Superintendent

Twelve Judges To Participate In Calumet Fair

Placing to Begin 9 a.m., Saturday; Will End by 4 p.m.

CHILTON — Twelve state accredited judges will grade livestock during the Calumet County Fair this weekend.

Judging begins at 9 a.m. Saturday and will be completed by 4 p.m., County Agricultural Agent, Orrin Meyer, said Monday.

Since 80 per cent of the premiums are paid by the state, only state accredited judges can be used, Meyer said.

Marney Sheridan, Fond du Lac, will judge dairy cattle; Paul Wolske, Kewaunee, sheep, swine and beef; John Long, Madison, bees and honey; R. J. Rensink, Manitowoc, crafts and conservation; Emil Zorn, Plymouth, dairy products; H. J. Sonn, Fond du Lac, flowers; Joe Walker, Waupaca, crops and vegetables; Norman Jennings, Fond du Lac, horses and poultry; Donna Dempsey, Barron, clothing and child care; Betty Holsen, Manitowoc, clothing and home furnishings, and Mrs. Richard Smith, Manitowoc, home economics and food preservation.

Mrs. Strum incurred injuries when a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. William Stennis, 205 N. Locust St., Appleton, collided with a car driven by Leon J. Sharkey, 42, 1265 Lawe St., Green Bay, at the intersection of Portier Street and S. Webster Avenue in Green Bay.

Also injured Two other Appleton women, also passengers in the Stennis car, were injured. Mrs. May Strutz, 1019 Lawe St., and Mrs. Irene Flynn, 823 W. Oklahoma St. received leg injuries. Mrs. Stennis incurred a possible broken hand and Mrs. Strum, the deceased woman, head injuries.

Mrs. Stennis told police she didn't see a stop sign and thought the other car would stop. She was cited for going through a stop sign.

All four women were treated and released from St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay. On the way home Mrs. Strum became ill and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton.

Kemps said Mrs. Strum had a history of heart disease and had been ill the past three years.

Green Bay Youth Gets 30-Day Term in Jail

Ronald W. Spencer, 17, 1285 Cedar St., Green Bay, was sentenced to 30 days in the Outagamie County jail after he pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 to a charge of driving after his license was revoked.

He was arrested Aug. 21 by county police in the Town of Bovina. He was waived from juvenile court.

William Spears Tells Appleton Teachers Students Should be Taught How, Not What, to Think

A good educational system should "teach pupils to think—not what to think, but how to think," Supt. of Schools William Spears said in his "inaugural" address to Appleton public school teachers today.

The new superintendent urged the 443-member teaching staff to be concerned with "education for excellence."

"Remember that the youngsters in your classroom today have seen the surface of the moon from just a few miles up," Spears said. "The world they live in is the infinity of space. Their feet are not going to be fastened by gravity to old mother earth. We have to prepare these children for what they are going to face."

Apply Basic Facts

Education for excellence means more than the ability to repeat facts of the past, for students also should be able to apply these basic facts and to solve problems, he said.

A good educational system, he said, "helps the pupil to live harmoniously within his environment, teaches him how to solve problems on the present-day level and prepares him to solve them in the future."

Two poles in the philosophy of instruction are the child-centered school and the subject-centered school, Spears said, and school systems will show evidence of both.

Lose Sight

"Perhaps at the elementary level we are quite child-centered," he said. "As we move through the school system we tend to get more subject-centered, perhaps to the extent where we might tend to lose sight of the child."

An amalgamation of these two approaches is necessary, Spears said. "We have got to bring the Trial Set for Seymour Youth

Richard H. Vandenberg, 16, route 1, Seymour, pleaded innocent today to a charge of hit and run and will face trial Oct. 5. He was released in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 to the custody of his father.

County police charged Vandenberg with leaving the scene after his car allegedly struck a pedestrian last week on County Trunk E. The pedestrian was injured and taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital. He was waived from juvenile court.

Reynolds Stumps for Himself, LBJ; Criticizes GOP Stands

Governor Talks to 75 Outagamie Democrats in Swing Through Area

BY PATRICK McELHINNEY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — Campaigning for President Lyndon B. Johnson as much as for himself, Gov. John W. Reynolds here Wednesday criticized the Republican party on state and national levels.

The Democratic governor, seeking his second term, kept a crowd of about 75 Outagamie

He also attacked Rep. John W. Byrnes, Eighth District congressman, as a man who had not represented the welfare of the people. He did not mention the veteran congressman by name but commended Kaukauna Mayor Joseph (Doty) Bayoregon, Democratic candidate for the post, for entering the race against Byrnes.

It is at the congressional level, Reynolds said, "that you have an honest debate on the national issues."

Praise For Johnson

Reynolds devoted most of his speech to the national campaign and in praising the record of President Johnson. He did, however, describe his own record to the partisan crowd.

Knowles and Goldwater are "echos" of each other, Reynolds said.

old said. "Both have clear records of fighting against progressive legislation," he said.

While Knowles has linked himself with Goldwater's "outdated fictions," Reynolds said, he himself has an "eye-to-eye" partnership with Lyndon Johnson.

The governor, who came to Madison from Green Bay, said he was "afraid" of the consequences if the Republican presidential slate were elected.

Key State

And, he said, Wisconsin would be one of the key states in deciding the outcome of the November national election. President Johnson, Reynolds said, probably would lose some southern states and states in the Rocky Mountain region.

It would be the Midwest, Reynolds said, that will be "the great battleground" of this election, and it would be Outagamie County Democrats who would

Methodist Pastors' School in Second Day With Lectures, Panels

Audio Visual Workshop Planned Tonight, Special Worship Service Set at 8 O'Clock

Methodist ministers of Wisconsin began the second day of Pastors' School today of lectures, discussions and workshops.

Bishop Ralph Taylor Alton set the tone for the series of evening services Monday by discussing unconventional means of relating the Christian gospel. Bishop Alton delivered his sermon in the first person, as if he were Joseph of Arimathea.

Dr. Richard R. Teeter, staff physician at the Milwaukee Psychiatric Hospital, spoke Monday on the mental and physical development of children.

Speaking Monday afternoon was Dr. F. Thomas Trotter, dean and associate professor of religion and arts at Southern California School of Theology, Claremont, Calif. Dr. Trotter said preachers and novelists need each other. There is a growing religious awareness in modern novels. Ministers, too, can learn from the novelist, who does not have to correlate, just mirror life as it is lived and see beneath beauty and ugliness.

Face Crisis

The world of both the minister and the artist faces a crisis of communication because of the erosion of faith and the erosion of the meaning of the structure of man's life, Dr. Trotter said.

"We are living in a time of Reynolds denied being in favor of a sales tax but said he signed the compromise tax bill because he did not want to see a cut in the budget which would result in a cut in education and welfare programs.

"Soft" Way

This is the "soft" way, he said, to solve economic problems. It is the way of "irresponsible" government, he said, and the kind of government Republican gubernatorial candidate Warren Knowles would bring to Wisconsin and presidential candidate Barry Goldwater would bring to the nation.

A Waitress, Barbara Coats, takes an order while Gov. John W. Reynolds makes notes during breakfast in a Winnebago restaurant. Need $76,000 To Give Plant Final Touches

Appleton Aldermen
Provided for Work

An estimated $76,000 is needed to put finishing touches to Appleton's new sewage treatment plant, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said Monday.

Meeting with the street-sanitation committee, Bues said no funds were provided in the original project cost for streets, sidewalks and landscaping.

The $1.5 million plant, which took almost two years to complete and put into operation, is on Appleton's far southeast side.

Streets Needed

Several months ago the council indicated it would float a $100,000 bond issue to cover the cost of work not included in the plant construction.

Bues said streets and sidewalks around the treatment plant are "badly needed" and around the treatment plant. "We also need some good lighting out there," he said.

Because of the city's major investment in the plant and equipment, Bues also recommended fencing be erected.

A breakdown of the costs given by Bues: sidewalks, $1,800; grading and graveling of streets, $18,000; fence, $32,000; lights, $3,500, and seeding for landscaping, $3,000.

Back Approval

Bues also said it eventually will be necessary to have two men stationed at the plant instead of one.

The committee recommended the council approve Bues' proposals. It also:

—Set Sept. 14 as the deadline for ordering new sidewalks for residential areas.

—Withheld action on requesting the state to program the widening of and resurfacing of Seymour Street in 1965.

—Approved a tentative plan of Lawrence University to widen the entrance to its property at John Street and previously vacated Wagg Street.

K-C Appoints New Director For Europe

NEENAH — In a move to decentralize management responsibility for its European operations, Kimberly-Clark Corp. Monday appointed D. G. Croxon, resident area director, Europe.

Croxon formerly was managing director of Kimberly-Clark Ltd., Larkfield, England. In his new assignment he will provide technical and management liaison between manufacturing and sales operations in the European region and the corporation's International Division headquarters here.

His office in London also will give marketing assistance, coordinate sales efforts and promote new business development in Europe.

Mild Upturn In Share Prices

Steels, Tobaccos
Among Leaders in Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels, Tobaccos and other industrials rose moderately early this afternoon, pacing the stock market to a moderate advance.

Utilities and rails were not in gear with the industrial section, displaying a mixed pattern.

Trading was considerably livelier than Monday, however.

Chrysler, threatened anew with a possible strike Sept. 9 if it does not satisfy demands of the United Auto Workers, was wobbly in early trading when it sank nearly a point, but recovered and edged to the upside. Most other motors were higher.

Chemicals, aerospace issues, nonferrous metals and rubbers also gained. Airlines were lower on balance, oils mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 314.6 with industrials up 1.0, rails up .1 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.46 at 841.94.

U.S. Steel rose nearly a point, Jones & Laughlin more than a point and Republic and Bethlehem fractions.

General Motors advanced a full point, Ford a fraction.

American Motors was steady. American Tobacco rose a point then halved the gain. Reynolds Tobacco held a 1-point rise, Liggett & Myers a fraction.

The averages were bolstered by gains exceeding a point by Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak and by a rise of nearly a point by Du Pont. AT&T was in England, France and Germany. Its broad line of household and sanitary protection products are sold in most European countries.

The corporation also announced the appointment of Denis Vidler as managing director of Kimberly-Clark, Ltd., a joint venture of the Reed Paper Group, Ltd., and Kimberly-Clark Corp.

2-Day Race Program Begins Wednesday At Winnebago Fair

OSHKOSH — The trotters and pacers will be in action at the Winnebago County Fair beginning at 2 p.m. Wednesday with six heats of racing on the track. The ponies also will race on Thursday.

Harness racing returned to the fair last summer after an absence of seven years. The opening day's card was rained out but a crowd of between 3,000 and 4,000 witnessed the second session.

Many of the leading trotters and pacers who competed on other fair programs throughout the state are expected to bid for prize money.

California Growers Worried About Loss of Mexican Labor

BY BILL BOYARSKY
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California growers are far from resigned to the loss of their braceros — those hard-working Mexicans who help harvest the great California crops.

Outside the San Joaquin Valley community of Stockton, farmer Sam Loduca glumly watched the men in straw hats harvest cucumbers for 25 cents a bushel and remarked:

"I'm glad I don't like cucumbers. There won't be any next year."

Like Loduca, other growers are counting the days until Dec. 31, the expiration date of Public Law 78 under which more than 100,000 Mexican citizens came to the United States for farm work last year.

Exert Pressure
State officials say growers are quietly exerting pressure on Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown to fight for some sort of bracero legislation next year.

Although the official position of the Council of California Growers is not to seek extension of the bracero program, farmers and the Brown administration say California agriculture faces a difficult season next year without it.

Despite the hard-core unemployment in California and elsewhere, state officials admit failure in the search for Americans to replace the braceros.

"In our view, we're going to have a real bad time next year to make up the labor force needed," said Albert B. Tieburg, state employment director.

Organized labor says there would be no shortage of domestic labor if farmers would pay more than the $1 an hour guaranteed to the Mexican nationals.

"There is no job that Americans won't do if they get paid for it," said Al Green, who directs the AFL-CIO's Agricultural Workers Organizing Committee. He suggested a $2 an hour minimum wage.

Braceros, paid by piece work, earn varying amounts. They averaged $1.50 an hour picking tomatoes not far from San Francisco Bay; 90 cents an hour for thinning cantaloupes in Southern California's Riverside County and $1.25 for picking cantaloupes farther north in Fresno County.

Tieburg said the state hopes to import some Mexican nationals next year under a different federal law, the McCarran-Walton Immigration Act. But he doesn't expect this method to allow as many braceros as the present Public Law 78.

New Interest In Developing Waupaca Lakes

Casey Lake Farmer Building Campsite
For Tents, Trailers

WAUPACA—New interest has been taken in Waupaca County's 112 undeveloped lakes, and development projects are being started on some of them, according to John Nimlos, Wisconsin State Department of Conservation soil conservationist.

Nimlos said an article in the Sunday Appleton Post-Crescent last summer on the many fish-stocked but unused lakes in the northern part of the county has spurred a flood of inquiries at his office during the last year and has led to initiation of development projects on some of the lakes.

He cited a new camping area on Casey Lake, previously uninhabited except for two farms with frontage, as one of the biggest projects in progress.

Casey Lake is off County Trunk E, about six miles northeast of here. Leonard Paulson, who owns about half the frontage on the lake, is in the process of building a large campsite for tenting and house trailers.

Camping Facilities

Paulson said he had enough of the campsite open for 10 camping units this summer, with many customers, and plans on more than doubling that space.

He has cleared 400 feet of lake frontage on the south shore and plans to develop a total of up to 2,000 feet of frontage. The camping units already installed have toilet facilities and four are equipped for electricity, Paulson said.

Casey Lake occupies about 17 acres, has a maximum depth of 43 feet and is stocked with all varieties of panfish, according to Paulson.

In addition to building the area for camping, Paulson also is in the process of building a pond along a spring near the campsite to stock trout. He said the lake has been stocked with trout, but apparently none survived.

He also is planning to develop a secluded wilderness camp in a wooded area away from the lake.

Marathon Unit Manager Feted On Retirement

Luncheon Honors
Ferdinand Kraft
For 19 Years' Work

NEENAH — Dr. Ferdinand Kraft, Appleton, production manager of the pulp and paper division of American Can Co.'s Marathon Division, was guest of honor at a retirement luncheon recognizing his 19 years of service with the firm. Dr. Kraft retired Monday.

An international authority of the production of wood pulp and wood pulp bleaching, Dr. Kraft joined the company as technical director of Marathon Corp. of Canada, Ltd., in August, 1945.

He transferred to Menasha in 1953 as executive assistant on the central manufacturing staff and subsequently served eight years as general pulp superintendent. He became pulp production manager in August, 1963.

Dr. Kraft was instrumental in the development of the firm's pulp and paper mills at Marathon, Ont., and Naheola, Ala.

Assemblyman Repeats Second Bridge Plea

OSHKOSH — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has indicated to the Wisconsin State Highway Commission that they are ready to process an application for approval of plans for a second bridge to cross Lake Butte des Morts, 4-laning U.S. Highway 41 at Oshkosh, on the basis of proposed clearances which the commission considers to be reasonable, according to Assemblyman William A. Steiger.

It is hoped that the commission will give further consideration for including a second crossing in future improvement programs now that the Corps of Engineers has determined the required waterway clearances, Steiger said.

The commission stated that at least two alternatives were available for the construction of a second crossing, according to the assemblyman. First, the renovation of the present structure, and the second a new high bridge constructed on the existing location. It is hoped, stated the assemblyman, now that the Corps has given "reasonable clearance," the commission will undertake a study of the paths open to it.

The importance of the construction is brought to bear with the state patrol advising motorists to avoid the Lake Butte des Morts bridge at Oshkosh from 3 to 7 p.m. during the coming Labor Day weekend, Steiger said.

South Side Athletic Club Buys Land

The South Side Athletic Club, 1726 S. Lawe St., has purchased property at 1715 E. Newberry St., according to information filed in the Outagamie County register of deeds office.

The club presumably purchased the property to build a new clubhouse. The present structure is to be razed this year to make way for a supermarket.

Roland Sonnlitner, club president, could not be reached for comment on the building plans.

Fire Levels Cottage Near Stockbridge

STOCKBRIDGE — Firemen here were called to extinguish a house fire at 1:15 a.m. Monday at the Juno Graf residence, south of the village on Lake Winnebago.
Fire Chief Clifford Mayer said the small, year-around cottage was completely destroyed by the fire. He estimated damages to be between $4,000 and $5,000.
Mayer said the fire was discovered by motorists on State 55. The flames were visible more than a mile away.
By the time firemen arrived, only the walls of the building remained, Mayer said.

Foreign Legion for U. S. Is Proposed By Retired General

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should recruit an international brigade — some kind of a Foreign Legion — composed of refugees from Eastern Europe, retired Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby said today.
Such a force, consisting of about six mobile divisions with supporting units including its own intelligence, would present "endless advantages," Willoughby said, and might be used wherever necessary, either to strengthen the Atlantic alliance forces in Europe, or to be ready to fight in South Viet Nam. Willoughby was intelligence chief for the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

2 Deaths Added To Highway Toll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two deaths in separate crashes have raised the 1964 Wisconsin traffic toll to 716. The total on Sept. 1 a year ago was 562.
Peter Hastert Jr., 24, of rural Phillips was struck and killed by a truck Monday night as he walked along Highway 29 about 14 miles west of Wausau.
Norman Engstrom, 41, of Webster was killed Monday when his car rolled over three times after leaving Highway 35 about three miles south of Siren in Burnett County.

Tipsy Driver Sent to Jail

Does Not Have $100, Gets 30-Day Sentence From Waupaca Court
Lawrence Kolosso, 25, Ogdensburg, was sentenced to 30 days in the Waupaca County jail Monday when he was unable to pay a $100 fine after pleading guilty of driving while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage.

2 Injured When Auto Rams Into Parked Car

Kolosso appeared in Waupaca Municipal Justice Court. He was arrested at 2:20 a.m. Sunday west of Manawa after he was seen driving erratically.
Fire Chief Clifford Mayer said the small, year-around cottage was completely destroyed by the fire. He estimated damages to be between $4,000 and $5,000.
Mayer said the fire was discovered by motorists on State 55. The flames were visible more than a mile away.

Article in Pravda Calls It Tough to be Communist in U. S.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press commemorated today the 45th anniversary of the founding of the U.S. Communist party — with an article on how tough it is to be a Communist in the United States.
The article, by American Communist leader Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, appeared in Pravda, official voice of the Soviet Communist party.
She wrote that FBI agents follow American Communists everywhere. "Their mail is opened and read. Party members under FBI surveillance lose their jobs. Spies are infiltrated into the party to testify against Communists at trials."

Fond du Lac 'Jim' Braun Had Luck With Game but House Got Away

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
FOND DU LAC — Roofer Jim Braun has a date with a judge next week.
And, he's not fond of the idea.

The well-known big game hunter and naturalist—hearty and hale as he approaches 70 years—faces eviction from the once beautiful chalet home that took two years to build with his own hands.
Authorities are the first to admit they have their fingers crossed that Braun will live up to his "Gentle Jim" moniker when ordered to vacate his premises at 345 Winnebago Dr.

Arsenal at Home
It seems Braun's collection of guns and other hunting weapons represents a virtual arsenal. . . and Jim has let it be known he wants time to "get his house in order" before moving out.

The judge will decide whether he gets that time and then—well, we'll have to wait and see.

Braun lost the home and his roofing business warehouse at a recent foreclosure sale and says, at this point, he has more faith in wildlife than some people.

The 5 foot 6 inch, 125-pound Braun—a steeplejack of all trades—is a remarkable and sometimes misunderstood little guy and a walking storybook in his own right.

Never at loss for words, the 68-year-old bachelor is as spry as a teen-ager, and it may be that his love for work and the outdoors has contributed to his present financial predicament.

"I'm not rich and you really can't say I'm poor either," commented Braun. He has property holdings in this area and northern Wisconsin and says his problem has been the lack of "hand cash" when needed most.

Braun confesses his house and yard "need some tidying up" but wants to do it and then hold an auction.

"I've got wonderful antiques and other collector's items stored away. . . so many in fact, I can't remember them all," Braun said.

"You might call me the world's poorest collector right about now," was his afterthought.

Born and raised in Mt. Calvary, a village 18 miles east of here, Braun worked on the family farm as a youth.

when President Wilson signed the Versailles Treaty.

In 1922 the brothers started a roofing business in Fond du Lac, Jim taking it over in 1927.

"I'm still in business and I will work and hunt until I'm 100 years old," the wiry Braun exclaimed as he prepared to take a trip to Waupaca to visit friends. "I've got some old hunting buddies up that way," he added.

Braun's first exposure to the thrill of the hunt came in 1927 when he went to Wyoming to chase elk on horseback. "We ran into a pack of 60 to 70 of 'em and it was great!" Braun said.

He took subsequent trips to Wyoming and in 1946 made the state newspapers when he bagged "a big one" to add to his collection. Braun has hunted in many parts of the country, Canada and the Yukon.

"Someday I'm going back to Alaska and try my luck," Braun said hopefully.

Hunting Preserve

Braun said he loves the outdoors, and hiking in the tennis shoes he wears for his roofing jobs. He takes a periodic "stroll" to Mt. Calvary where he has a large hunting preserve. Braun also has property in Price County, having obtained most of his holdings during the depression. "Wherever I go I make a friend," Braun says.

Braun's friends say he is a hard worker and one of the best roofers in the business.

Actually, his name is Leo E. Braun, but they've called him Jim since childhood. "When I was a youngster I had curls as long as Gypsy Joe," Braun quipped.

Braun, who boasts, "I can lick anybody at hard work," quit smoking in 1926, is a teetotaler and takes pride in his excellent physical condition. He claims to be a vegetarian and feels like a young man.

"I may blow my stack now and then but I've never been arrested in my life," Braun added.

Seeks Solitude

Sheriff Ray Howard and City Police Capt. Paul Pinkert vouch for Braun's record but thought he was a hard man to find whenever they had to serve legal papers.
Braun's Winnebago Drive home has three stone fireplaces and a bomb shelter. Time has taken a toll of the place and it needs work.

"I'd like to hold an auction and then would appreciate it if people would leave me alone," Braun commented, complaining he periodically is the victim of pranksters.

Braun says he will always work, adding philosophically, "You can learn a lot about life working on a hole in the roof."

Fond du Lac Man Hurt in Calumet Truck Accident

CHILTON—Edmund Schuessler, 63, Fond du Lac was severely injured at 4:10 p.m., Monday, when the truck he was driving left a town road, five miles northeast of Stockbridge.
Schuessler suffered a broken right arm and leg along with multiple bruises. He is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital.
Calumet County police said the truck struck a cement bridge while traveling west. Schuessler told police a blow-out caused the vehicle to swerve.

Heavy Rains Pelt Eastern Seaboard

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A portion of the nation's Eastern seaboard got a heavy rain today from what weathermen said was the disintegrating tropical storm Cleo.

The Naval Air Station at Norfolk, Va., got nearly 5 1/2 inches of rain and the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk, about 4 1/2 inches during the same period.

Thunderstorms and heavy rain also hit the nation's mid-section. Heavy winds and hail accompanied the rain in the Russell-Gorham-Hays sections of Kansas.

Several tornadoes struck the towns Monday night, damaging farm property and utility lines. Unofficial reports of Monday's rain stated Gorham got about 11 inches of rain, and Osborne, about 35 miles northeast of Russell, 6 to 8 inches.

At Rapid City, S.D., Monday a storm brought down hail the size of hen eggs.

Cool weather gripped most of the northern half of the country early today. Temperatures were mostly in the 40s, throughout the area, but some towns in Upper Michigan had readings in the 30s. At Marquette, the low was 38 degrees.

Absentee Votes May Be Cast Now For Fall Primary

Appleton residents who will not be in the city next Tuesday (election day) can cast their absentee ballots at the city clerk's office this week.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said he will have special office hours Thursday and Friday (8 a.m. to 8 p.m.) as a convenience for those wishing to cast absentee ballots.

Broehm also reminded that requests for absentee ballots must be in his office by Friday so they can be mailed out Saturday. Monday is a legal holiday with all municipal offices closed.

Broehm's staff is in the process of preparing poll lists for Tuesday's election. The official voter registration total will not be known until Wednesday.

In the April election, 21,000 Appleton voters were registered but only 15,417 voted.

One Life Insurance Plan Might Cover All Appleton Employees

One life insurance plan should cover all city employees, the Appleton Personnel Committee agreed informally Monday.

It plans to make an attempt to put employees of all municipal boards, agencies and commissions under the same plan.

The committee indicated its interest in the Group Life Insurance for Employees of Wisconsin Municipalities which is available through a Minnesota firm. Members of the police department, firemen and school teachers have asked the committee to check into the plan.

have to work to help President Johnson carry this state.

No Democrat has carried Wisconsin since 1948, he said. He knew it was "not an easy job in this state" for Democrats, but it was on the local level which the work must be done.

He pointed to County Sheriff Calvin Spice as an example "that a Democrat can win in Outagamie County."

He commended county office candidates for entering the contest. He said it was from the courthouse state and national leaders eventually would come.

Reynolds was introduced by Bayorgeon as "one of our sons who has truly written history and will continue to write it."

Reynolds was scheduled to make stops throughout lower Winnebago and upper Fond du Lac counties today and return to Madison tonight to celebrate his wife's birthday.

Three to Be Charged With Theft of Auto From Seymour Man

Three men charged as escapees from the Green Bay Reformatory will be charged in Outagamie County with theft of an automobile.

The car was stolen two weeks ago from Winfred Schmidt, route 2, Seymour, when the escapees allegedly took the car and drove it to Stevens Point where they were captured.

Named in the warrant will be Leo Rausch, 24, Donald J. Haesley, 25, and Leland A. Slater, 30.

Sheriff, Lt. Jack Zuelzke, said the men admitted taking a green tarpaulin from the Schmidt car and using it to hide under as they lay in a corn field near Seymour while making their escape.

Youth, 19, Faces Trial On Intoxication Count

Clyde K. Chapman, Jr., 19, route 4, Appleton, will face trial Sept. 17 on a charge of public intoxication. He posted bond of $100 Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Chapman was arrested by Appleton police Saturday on W. College Avenue.

Oliva Leads Twins To 2-1 Triumph Over Washington

Dodgers Snap Cards' Victory Streak at Six With 12-3 Win

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Oliva, Minnesota's rookie sensation, is within striking distance of six American League records for first-year players.

His name, however, will never be in the record books.

Oliva, whose real first name is Pedro, continued his heavy hitting Monday, lashing a double and a single and scoring the winning run as the Twins edged Washington 2-1 in the only American League game scheduled.

In the only game on the National League program, Maury Wills and Wes Parker, who had one homer between them going into the game, each connected in support of Don Drysdale and powered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 12-3 victory that snapped St. Louis winning streak at six games.

Borrowed Passport
Oliva adopted his new first name in 1961 when he borrowed his brother Tony's passport to get out of Cuba. Since he's been with the Twins this year he's learned to adapt himself to American League pitching.

The 24-year-old left-handed swinger currently leads the league in four departments — batting, hits, runs scored and doubles while threatening a half-dozen rookie marks.

Here's the way Oliva and the record-holders compare:

Average — Oliva is hitting .332. Dale Alexander set the AL mark of .343 with Detroit in 1929.

Hits — Oliva has 184. Alexander holds the AL record with 215. The major league record — which may be out of reach — is 223 by Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh in 1927.

Runs — Oliva has scored 99 times. Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees is the AL record-holder with 132 in 1936. Waner holds the major league record of 133.

Doubles — Oliva has 36. Roy Johnson slammed 45 for Detroit in 1929.

Homers — Oliva has 28. Jimmie Hall of the Twins set the AL record with 33 last season.

Total Bases — Oliva has 318. DiMaggio holds the AL record of 367 set in 1936.

Versalles Homers
Oliva scored what turned out to be the winning run against the Senators when he singled in the fourth inning and came around on a single by Don Mincher and Hall's double. Zoilo Versalles supplied the other run with a third inning homer.

Jim Grant had a three-hit shutout going until the eighth when wildness put him in a jam. Two walks and Don Blasingame's single brought in a Washington run and a Minnesota reliever, Bill Pleis, Pleis struck out pinch hitter Fred Valentine to end the rally.

Backed by Wills' second homer of the season and Parker's first, Drysdale brought his record to 15-13. He struck out 12 Cardinals for a season total of 201 — second only to the 223 fanned by teammate Sandy Koufax.

Drysdale also delivered a key hit as the Dodgers struck for five runs in the fourth inning and put the game out of reach.

With two out in the inning, Drysdale tied the score 2-2 with a two-run single.

Wills then walked to load the bases and Dick Tracewski followed with a grounder to third on which Ken Boyer threw wild, enabling three runs to score.

Phils Face Colts
The league-leading Philadelphia Phillies get back into action tonight against Houston while Chicago moves into Cincinnati to tackle the second-place Reds. Third-place San Francisco is at New York.

The Baltimore Orioles, who lead the American League by one-half game over Chicago, are at Minnesota while the White Sox take on Detroit. Third-place New York is at Los Angeles.

71 Candidates Turn Out Badger Offensive Appears Strong; Defensive Unit Lacks Manpower

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin has the players needed to score in football this season but may lack the manpower to keep opponents from scoring more.

As a consequence, Coach Milt Bruhn put the emphasis on molding a defensive squad as the Badgers opened fall drills today.

"We're hurting at guard especially and we'll have to find some way of adding depth at middle linebacker," Bruhn said Monday as 71 candidates paraded in game dress for photographers.

With the loss of Ray Marcin and Bob Pickens from his guard corps because of scholastic ineligibility, Bruhn probably will have to give the linebacking assignment to sophomores Bob Richter of Milwaukee and Tony Loukas of Chicago.

Opens Sept. 19
Wisconsin will open its season at home Sept. 19 against Kansas State, a school it has not yet met in football. Notre Dame is the second opponent.

The Badgers relinquished their Big Ten Conference title last year and won only five of their nine games.

"I really don't know how we'll do," Bruhn said. "We have men who run with the ball but our defense is terribly thin and that makes it tough to judge."

Only 17 lettermen have returned to the Wisconsin squad. The list includes Hal Brandt, a senior from Hinsdale, Ill., who has been given the starting quarterback assignment.

Brandt was put in the same spot last year but lost his grip on the job. This season he'll be pushed by Charles Burl, a sophomore from Urbana, Ill., and Jesse Kaye, a junior from Green Bay.

"Brandt knows our offense forward and back and all he needs is some confidence," Bruhn said in explaining why he made an early selection.

If it's confidence Brandt lacks, maybe he can draw on another sport in which he excels. In Badger baseball this spring, the left-hander was the cleanup hitter in a lineup that included Los Angeles Angels bonus player Rick Reichardt.

Brandt worked a construction job during the summer, held his weight to 200 pounds and spent his free time pitching a football into a net.

"I'm sure I improved my timing and my accuracy," he said.

Bruhn's lament last season was that Brandt didn't make enough use of the running talent available.

"We don't want him to carry the ball this year either," the coach said. "We still have plenty of other backs for that."

Abundance of Runners
Wisconsin does have an abundance of strong runners. Fullback Ralph Kurek stands near the top of the list. His prance has been likened by some to the running style of Alan Ameche, a Badger running great, but an ankle injury kept Kurek from performing well last year.

Returning halfbacks include Ron Smith of East Chicago, Ind., and Carl Silvestri of Shorewood. Smith is the fastest man on the squad and Silvestri the hardest to pull down.

Sophomore halfbacks being groomed for lots of service are Tom Jankowski of Whitefish Bay and Dave Neubauer of Neenah.

Bruhn, starting his ninth season, will hold two-day drills until classes begin.

Clintonville '9' Blanks 'Wega' In BABA Tilt
Clintonville blanked Weyauwega, 4-0 to win the Southern Division playoff in the Badger Amateur Baseball Association Sunday and will meet Big Falls, Central Division titlist, in another playoff this Sunday.

Dave Bohman went the distance for Clintonville and allowed only five hits while striking out nine and walking one batter.

Dave Koehler was the loser for Weyauwega. He was nicked for seven hits while fanning eight and walking four.

The winners scored a run in the fourth and clinched the game with three in the seventh. Don Jirschele smacked a 2-run homer to highlight the seventh frame uprising.

Butch Schlicht Leads Amateur Golf Qualifiers

Madison Youth Hits 141 for Best Card at Four Sites

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Butch Schlicht, a 19-year-old University of Wisconsin golfer, led the first handful of qualifiers for the U.S. Amateur golf championship Monday, shooting a three-under-par 141 at Milwaukee.

The 36 hole qualifications were held in four locations Monday, 18 holes were held in two others which will be completed Tuesday, and 36 holes in 27 other locations are scheduled Tuesday.

Eleven of the 149 qualifiers were selected Monday, with the rest to be named in the competition that stretches from Fitchburg, Mass., to Honolulu. In all, some 1,605 amateur golfers are scheduled to compete for the 149 places in the final.

Only defending champion Dean Beman of Bethesda, Md., is exempt from the qualifying rounds and has an automatic spot in the finals at the Canterbury Golf Club at Cleveland, Sept. 14-19.

New Format
Under the new format for the Amateur, the 149 qualifiers and Beman will compete in 36 holes of stroke play Sept. 14-15, with the low 4 advancing to match play beginning Sept. 16.

Former USGA World Cup and Walker Cup players, who had been exempt from qualifying under previous rules, will be in action today.

The only qualifications Monday were at Indianapolis, Buffalo, N.Y., Seattle and Milwaukee.

Schlicht outdistanced 20 other hopefuls for one of the two spots from Milwaukee. Wally Atwood, former Wisconsin Amateur state champion from Madison, took second with a 147.

New York State amateur champ Eric Hanson, from Elmbrook, Ont., took the competition at Buffalo with a par 142.

George Austin of Evansville, Ind., a recent Duke graduate, led the qualifiers from Indianapolis with a 145.

Yesterday's Stars
PITCHING — Don Drysdale, Dodgers, struck out 12 Cardinal batters, bringing his season total to 201 — second only to teammate Sandy Koufax — and won his 15th game as the Dodgers snapped St. Louis' six-game winning streak.

Next Week's Games:
Landslaid at Freedom.
Nichols at Hofa Park.
Garsow at Bonduel.
Black Creek at Cecil.
Seymour at Navarino.

Black Creek surprised Seymour, 4-0, and Garsow downed Cecil, 6-1 to highlight Dairyland Baseball League action Sunday. Seymour and Garsow are now tied for the league lead.

Bonduel missed a chance for a possible 3-way tie by dropping a 4-3 verdict to Nichols in 14 innings. Hofa Park outlasted the Freedom Mets, 6-5 in 10 innings. Navarino bombed Landslaid, 17-1.

Don Kettner was the mound star for the day. Kettner hurled Black Creek to its first win in second round action. Kettner fanned 14 and walked only one, while yielding three hits to Seymour.

Gary Hodkiewicz pitched Garsow to the win with a 5-hit performance. Hodkiewicz fanned seven. John Farley led the way with three hits for Garsow. Dennis Stolenow had two of the losers' five hits.

Joe Buss picked up the victory for Nichols. Buss hurled the full 14 innings and struck out 10. Buss, however, walked 17. Leon Drage was the loser.

Nichols scored the winning run in the 14th on a squeeze bunt by Kay Plamann that scored Dave Witnunn from third. Emro Plamann drove in the tying runs in the ninth with a single.

Jerry Hiesberg's 3-run homer sparked a 7-run first inning for Navarino. John Dingeldin and Arlyn Poes rapped back-to-back homers in the second.

Howie VandenElsen picked up the win, fanning 13 and hurling a three-hitter. Mike Rudie homered for Landslaid's only run.

Jerry McDermid's single in the 10th scored winning pitcher Dick McDermid with the winning run for Hofa Park. Dick hurled the route and fanned seven. Jim Brockman was tagged with the loss. Clay School and Glenn Schroeder rapped out three hits for Freedom.

Marilyn Ramenofsky Lowers World Swimming Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Ramenofsky, fresh from slicing another huge chunk off the world record for the women's 400 meter freestyle, says she's going to be better.

Fred Schmidt, just after trimming the American mark in the men's 200 meter butterfly to 2:05, thinks it will take 2:05 to win the event in the Olympics.

The world mark of 2:06.9 is held by Australia's Kevin Berry. Donna de Varona right after chopping her own world standard in the 400 meter individual medley to 5:14.9, says "I'll have to go faster to win in the Olympics."

This should give you some kind of an idea of the record-busting spree expected to brighten up the Olympic swimming championships at Tokyo, Oct. 10-24.

Miss Ramenofsky, who just turned 18 on Aug. 20, came out of nowhere to top the women's world list for 400 meters freestyle with a best time of 4:45.

This year the Pomona State-bound brunette has repeatedly hammered down, one of swim-

Masanori Murakami has become the first Japanese baseball player to join a major league team in the United States. He has been called up by San Francisco from its Fresno farm club. (AP Wirephoto)

In the recent nationals at Los Altos Hills, Calif., she sliced the standard to 4:41.7. Then in the final of the Olympic trials Monday, she sizzled to a 4:39.5, day, pushed all the way by 18-year-old Terri Stickle, another power swimmer from the Santa Clara S.C. Terri also surpassed the pending world mark with a time of 4:41.5.

Ginny Duenkel, 17 of West Orange, N.J., took the third Olympic berth with 4:43.7.

Schmidt, a 20-year-old Indiana junior from North Brook, Ill., eclipsed Carl Robie's American record of 2:08.2 by two-tenths of a second in edging Robie in the butterfly final. Robie, a Michigan junior from Drexell Hill, Pa., was second — earning a second berth on the Olympic squad — in 2:08.4.

Phil Riker, 17-year-old high school grad from Paterson, N.J., bagged the third Olympic berth in the event with 2:09.5.

4,410 Die in July Traffic Accidents

A Leading Death Cause In America

CHICAGO (AP) — There deaths in the nation during July, the National Safety Council said today—more than for any single month in the motoring history.

By comparison, the U.S. Marines during the three-year Korean war lost a total of 4,267 killed in battle.

The record July toll supplanted that of August 1963 when 4,310 were killed in accidents on streets and highways. It was 11 per cent greater than for July last year when 3,970 deaths were counted.

The number of traffic fatalities for the first seven months of this year was 25,630, an increase

State Agencies Are Geared for War on Poverty

Responsibilities Are Assigned in Specific Areas

MADISON (AP) — Areas of responsibility were assigned specific state agencies today as Wisconsin geared to take part in a new federal program to combat poverty.

Gov. John W. Reynolds told the initial meeting of his task force on poverty that the program intends to "seek out the causes of poverty, and to eliminate them."

"In Wisconsin, we must be prepared to use the money we will get in as effective a manner possible," the governor said.

The chief feature of the program is the creation of a state development program to aid families with an income of less than $3,000 a year. The governor said Wisconsin has its share of such families even though it now boasts a total of more than $10 billion a year in personal income. "Not all of our people have shared in this prosperity," he said.

Prepared Survey

A survey prepared by the State Resource Development Department shows 17.4 per cent of Wisconsin's families earn less than $3,000 a year.

The survey also shows that eight counties—Adams, Burnett, Jackson, Sawyer, Taylor, Vernon, Waushara, and Menominee—have 40 per cent of their families below the $3,000 income level. The national average is 21.4 per cent.

The job of establishing conservation work camps as described in the federal program quite logically fell to the State Conservation Department. A spokesman said the department has large areas of land and a wide variety of projects available and that money is the only ingredient needed to begin work similar to that done by the civilian conservation corps in the 1930s.

Federal Funds

Frank Zeidler, state director of resource development, said about $2 million in federal funds would be allocated to conservation work and that state matching money would not be asked.

The administration of work training programs was assigned to the Wisconsin State Employment Service and the State Department of Vocational and Adult Education. And the job of moving along a basic education program was entrusted to the State Department of Public Instruction.

of 11 per cent over the 23,010 for the same seven months of 1963.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, commented that traffic accidents are becoming one of the country's most critical social problems. In the 5-to-24 age group, he said, "more people die from traffic accidents than from any other cause."

"Traffic accidents today," Pyle said, "are the fifth leading cause of death" with only heart disease, cancer, strokes and pneumonia ending greater numbers of lives.

What concerned safety planners most was a rise in the relationship of traffic deaths to total highway travel. A great increase in actual driving mileage has often been used as explanation for more traffic deaths.

With travel mileage estimated 5 per cent higher, at 478.9 billion miles during the first seven months of the year, the rate of deaths per 100 million miles also was up—to 5.4 compared with 5.1 last year.

During the seven months this year, experts estimated that 900,000 or more persons suffered injuries that laid them up for at least a day, and usually longer—in some cases for months.

The council's figures showed some thought-provoking city and state comparisons. For instance, New York City's traffic death toll for the seven months was 412—up 11 per cent from the comparative months of 1963, although 49 deaths reported in July this year were fewer than the 57 for July last year.

California Deaths

Among the states, California recorded 466 traffic deaths in July this year and 2,604 for the seven months—a 14 per cent increase over 2,279. Michigan's seven-month toll this year was 1,116, or 22 per cent greater than last year.

Some smaller states and cities showed dramatic improvement. Maryland and Oregon, for example showing 7 per cent drops, and Baltimore 37 per cent down, with a cut from 71 for the seven months last year to 45 this year. The seven-month toll for Maryland this year was 304 and for Oregon 267.

Navy Considering Glass Submarines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Submarines made of glass would be much stronger at depths of thousands of feet than even the high strength steel used in present deep-diving craft, a Navy scientist said today.

A research materials engineer at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, H. A. Perry, said that ordinary glass can withstand 5,000 to 10,000 pounds pressure per square inch. With new chemical treatment and special processing it can be made to take perhaps 100,000 pounds, he added.

Small, hollow spheres of this specially treated glass have been sunk as deep as 21,000 feet without collapsing, even when a shock wave was produced by exploding a charge in the surrounding water.

Conducted Experiments

Perry and a group of associates from the naval laboratory conducted experiments last month in the Puerto Rican trench.

The experiments showed that glass increased in strength under compression, being five-fold stronger at 21,000 feet than at the surface, whereas metal structures become progressively weaker to shock damage as depth increased.

The Navy has indicated an interest in the possibilities of glass instead of conventional metals for vastly increased strength in hull structures for deep submergence vessels.

Stout Structure

At a meeting last spring, a Navy official demonstrated the stout structure of the special glass. He hurled it on to a floor where another officer jumped on it with both feet, and the glass remained unbroken.

Rear Adm. I. J. Galantin, director of special projects in the Office of Naval Material, said

Passage Seen For Bill on Appalachia

Democratic Leaders Tell President of Bright Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders gave President Johnson an optimistic report today on prospects for enactment of his billion-dollar Appalachia development bill, one of the must measures on the President's legislative program.

Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts said the House would take the bill up Wednesday and that he believed it would be passed, provided there is a full attendance when the vote is taken.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has tabbed the bill for Senate consideration after action on the pending bill to increase Social Security payments.

Mainly Road Projects

The development bill is aimed at depressed economic areas in the Appalachian Mountain sections of 11 states. Most of the billion dollars would be spent for highways and access roads, but also included are programs to improve vocational education, health facilities and water and timber sources.

Congressional leaders went over the whole legislative situation with the President who returned Monday night from a weekend at his Texas ranch.

Mansfield told newsmen there are only a few bills left which the administration feels must be acted on at this session.

By way of recapitulation, he said that of Johnson's 51 recommendations since Jan. 1, 41 have passed by both houses and that three now are in conference.

As for adjournment prospects, Mansfield said he hoped Congress could complete its work in a reasonably short time so that senators up for re-election can hit the campaign trail and those not up for re-election can help them.

on that occasion that a "study has indicated that a high-silicate glass — non-yielding, light weight and high strength — must be the best material for a pressure hull to be used at deep depths."

Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze will join Wednesday in launching ceremonies at Groton, Conn., for an experimental deep-diving submarine constructed of aluminum. The submarine, "Aluminaut," was built by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. for Reynolds Metal Co. The company has leased it to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution for a Navy-sponsored research program.

Aluminum Alloy

The aluminum alloy used in this submarine has a yield strength of 60,000 pounds per square inch, with an operating depth of 15,000 feet.

The Navy is not yet committed to the feasibility of using aluminum, much less glass, in deep diving vehicles. It prefers to join in a thorough testing program of aluminum without going into actual construction of such craft on its own.

Even Perry, although enthusiastic about the possibilities of glass, says that a great amount of engineering and evaluation remains to be done before a final conclusion can be reached.

Efforts for Cyprus Peace Are Halted

Acheson Returns To Make Report To the President

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. efforts to work out a permanent solution for the dangerous Cyprus crisis have come to a temporary dead end.

Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson will return to Washington from Geneva Friday to report to President Johnson on his talks with Greek and Turkish representatives about settlement possibilities.

A State Department announcement of his return said he also will explore with Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk "what further help the United States might extend in resolving this problem."

Settlement Terms

U.S. diplomats here and in Athens, Ankara and Cyprus, officials said, will continue to discuss possible settlement terms and do what they can to prevent any new war-threatening flare-up in the crisis.

Officials here and in other North American Treaty Organization capitals have been deeply worried for several days about the danger of a new outbreak of violence in connection with Turkey's scheduled rotation of troops which by treaty it maintains on Cyprus.

The Turkish government has agreed to a Greek government request to delay the troop shift for a time in order to avoid an immediate showdown.

Turkish Right

The United States supports Turkey's right to rotate its troops on the island, but the Cypriot government of Archbishop Makarios had declared it would use force to prevent the new Turkish troops from entering Cyprus. The Turkish government in turn had said force would be met by force.

The State Department, disclosing the end of the Geneva talks Monday night, declared that "both Greece and Turkey have made substantial progress toward an agreed solution of the Cyprus problem and have narrowed the gap considerably."

The progress fell short, however, of an agreed settlement which Johnson sought when he sent Acheson to Geneva almost two months ago.

Common Solution

The State Department said negotiations for "a common solution acceptable to both governments will be continued."

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said in response to questions that it was not possible now to say whether negotiations would be resumed at Geneva.

Officials conceded privately that Acheson had done about everything possible to try to find a way out of the impasse, but the best efforts he could make were stalemated.

One handicap which Acheson suffered under from the beginning was that the Makarios government refused to take part in the Geneva discussion and denounced from afar various suggestions Acheson advanced for a solution.

The assumption in Washington and London that the Cyprus

Pope Plans Interfaith Center For Construction in Jerusalem

BY BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI plans an interfaith center in Jerusalem to commemorate his historic meeting with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople — Istanbul — in the Holy Land last January.

In disclosing the proposal Monday night, a high Vatican source said Christians would join with non-Christians in religious studies at the center.

The project was seen as a major step toward Christian unity as well as improved relations between Christianity and other faiths.

Center Planning

The Pope has entrusted preparations for the center to the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., the source said. Father Hesburgh also is the Vatican's permanent delegate to the International Atomic Energy Agency, now meeting in Geneva, and president of the International Federation of Catholic Universities.

Pope Paul received Father Hesburgh at a private audience at the Castel Gandolfo summer palace last weekend. With Father Hesburgh was Ignatius A. O'Shaughnessy, an industrialist from St. Paul, Minn. O'Shaughnessy is described as one of several Americans interested in supporting the Pope's personal project.

Comparative Doctrine

The center would be involved in research into the comparative doctrines of the major religions, with special focus on the Orthodox faith. Non-Christian scholars would take part.

"The idea is that it should be staffed not only by Roman Catholics but rather that there should be a certain openness to scholars of non-Christian faiths," the Vatican official said.

The selection of Jerusalem government would have to go along with any solution agreeable to the Greek government proved to be unfounded.

adds significance to the proposal, since the ancient city is holy to Jews and Moslems as well as Christians.

The official did not know when the center would be started but he said the project was being undertaken on a priority basis.

Site Unknown

It was not known whether the center would be built in the Jordanian or Israeli sector of Jerusalem but the Arab-controlled old city was considered more likely since the Pope met Patriarch Athenagoras there on the Mount of Olives. The Vatican does not officially recognize Israel.

Pope Paul's meeting with Athenagoras was the first personal encounter between the head of the Roman Catholic Church and an Orthodox patriarch in five centuries.

The unity movement so far has stressed encounters in which participants try to appreciate the similarities of their common belief in Christ, leaving differences momentarily aside.

Experts of several Christian religions have said the next logical step would be exploration of theological differences and similarities alike by qualified authorities.

Man Causes Bomb Scare at Madison Airport

MADISON (AP)—A man who identified himself as Prof. A.H. Steinhaus, 66, from George Williams College in Chicago, caused a flurry of excitement at Madison municipal airport Monday when he casually remarked he was carrying a bomb.

Police charged Steinhaus with disorderly conduct. He posted $50 bond and faces court arraignment Sept. 16.

Authorities said Steinhaus and an assistant, David Cornwall of Chicago, were checking in for a flight to Chicago after a business visit in Madison when Steinhaus told a ticket agent a box he carried contained what Steinhaus called a myometer, an electronic device he said he invented to measure muscle tension.

"It was just a slip of the tongue and I realize I should not have said it," Steinhaus told authorities.

The scare held up plane landings and takeoffs for half an hour.

Man Admits Topsy Driving

Gene Fielding, 22, New London, Pays Fine of $100

Gene Fielding, 22, 1112 Mill St., New London, pleaded guilty Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $100. The charge was reduced from driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Fielding was arrested by county police on State 76 in the Town of Stephenville May 3. He pleaded innocent and requested a jury. A six-man jury was selected to hear testimony Monday, but Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath reduced the charge before the trial got underway.

Urban Renewal Beginning to Pay Its Way

Chicago Spent $210 Million in Past 17 Years

BY SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — After 17 years and $210 million, urban renewal is paying its way in Chicago. As an added bonus, say city officials, it's bringing suburbanites back to the city at a better than expected pace.

By the late 1940s, Chicago's white citizens — like millions of others throughout the country — were streaming to the suburbs while slums spread in their wake. Assessed tax valuations of real estate and tax revenue were dropping.

The battle to reverse the tide began in 1947 with the Hyde Park-Kenwood conservation project, first of its kind in the United States. More than $36 million in city, state and federal funds was spent in the next 10 years to build new homes and apartment buildings, renovate old units and tear down dilapidated ones.

30 Projects
Now, 30 projects later, city officials estimate that the developments, which extend into almost every part of the city, eventually will increase the valuation of the involved real estate by more than $48 million.

D. E. MacKellmann, deputy commissioner of urban renewal, Sunday estimated the increase in tax yield at 115 per cent since the urban renewal programs were initiated. The city should be able to pay off the millions invested by 1975, he said.

Plus the public funds, an estimated half-billion dollars has been invested from private funds and by the University of Illinois, which hopes its $150-million Chicago campus will be ready for classroom use by next spring. The school will occupy an 105-acre site on the West Side that was cleared with urban renewal funds.

Growing Success
One recent urban renewal project considered a glowing success is Carl Sandburg Village, an ultra-modern housing development in Old Town, an area known for its quaint shops, houses and entertainment spots.

The village, eventually to be a 2,000-unit development with six 27-story towers, was constructed by a real estate firm, Arthur Rubloff & Co., after the land was designated a slum and cleared with urban renewal funds.

Rubloff & Co. bought the 16 acres of land in 1961 for a record $9.17 per square foot. Stanley Goodfriend, a Rubloff vice president, said 12 per cent of the tenants moved back from the suburbs to take advantage of "in-town living" atmosphere of the village, with its landscaped plazas and long malls.

"We didn't realize the attraction was going to be as big as it turned out to be," he said.

Tremendous Market
"There's a tremendous market if you can build the right thing," Lewis Hill, assistant urban renewal commissioner, agrees. "It's working out better than expected," he said.

"The village has given impetus to the whole near North Side, in terms of reconstruction and remodeling," Hill added. "New high rise buildings are going up east of it and prices, taxes and land values are all up."

The village, named for poet Carl Sandburg, is one of three major building developments where land was cleared by city agencies and developed by private industry.

Rents Are High
Rents in the developments are high, ranging from $85 to $135 a month for a studio apartment to $210 to $435 for a three- or four-bedroom unit.

Because of their inaccessibility to the average wage earner, the integrated urban renewal projects have been bitterly attacked by civil rights leaders.

"Slum clearance in Chicago, just as it is in many other towns, really means Negro clearance," says A. J. Pragean, an official of the Chicago Urban League.

Before the village was constructed, Pragean said, "there were a lot of poor people in that whole area. They got taken out and relocated in substandard housing or public housing."

"Why not rebuild a community for the people who really need it — the people who live there?" he asked.

It's a Way to Get Double Rations
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A female prisoner in the Lincoln city jail started talking to herself to pass the time. Then she began to answer her own questions.

The chattering was so realistic the police matron unthinkingly brought her two dinners.

Your Money's Worth

Pocket Money Can Aid Student in Two Ways

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Q: Should you, a financially well-off parent of a teen age boy, allow your son to hold a part-time job while going to high school?

A: Yes. He'll gain financially, of course. The responsibility of the work also can be of great emotional benefit to him.

Q: Will the experience help him to learn the value of money?

A: Yes. This will be a learning experience which he cannot duplicate in later life. While he may spend his first few paychecks on the silliest things, he'll soon learn to think out his spending.

Q: If he does work, what about the paycheck? How should he spend it? What if you, his parents, do not approve of what he buys?

A: Your adolescent wage-earner should have the right to use his earnings as he sees fit. Now matter how strongly you feel that your child's earnings should be put to practical use — saved for his education or contributed to the family till — let him make the decisions about it and do not pry. No matter how much you want to teach him wisdom and discretion, let him develop his own wisdom and discretion.

Suitable Hours
Q: Will work interfere with his studies?

A: Not if the work is "suitable" — meaning that the hours fit in with his primary job of studying and do not put physical demands on him which drain his energy for books and class work. If he is a well-organized high school student, he'll be able to handle both challenges with relative ease — and he'll learn valuable lessons in making time count.

Q: Should he work to help carry part of the financial load when he goes on to college?

A: No. If you can possibly manage it, avoid burdening him with the combination of work and study for at least the first two years of college. It's okay for him to combine work and study during high school, but college is a full-time job. When he becomes a college freshman, all his work activity should be confined to the summer vacation period.

Recently, Dr. Mortimer R. Feinberg, president of BFS Psychological Associates of New York, and Dr. Valentine Appel, a vice president of Benton & Bowles, conducted a research study of over 2,500 adolescent boys from all parts of the U.S. who had obtained jobs selling subscriptions to a national publication. The results of the study have not yet been published, but I have seen Feinberg's preliminary analysis and the above questions and answers pinpoint some of his most provocative findings.

Of the 2,500 boys, about two-thirds quit within the first month of employment and these Feinberg calls the "unsuccessful." The remaining boys who stuck at the job for a reasonable time he calls the "successful."

Spending Money
When asked, "What do you do with the money you earn?" the overwhelming response of the successful boys was "I save it" or "I spend it for entertainment." The overwhelming response of the unsuccessful was "I give it to my family" or "I don't have any spending money." Feinberg's firm advice to you is: Permit your adolescent wage-earner to handle his money himself, allow him to make his own mistakes. "Imposing your will can only boomerang, since it will destroy his incentive to work."

The widely held notion that "early childhood deprivation creates drive" is sharply challenged by the results of questioning of both the successful boys and their parents. Feinberg found that the parents of the successful boys were at a higher economic and educational level than the parents of the "quitters." "The real incentive to work lies in the fulfillment of the child's own personal needs" — and if he must contribute to the family till, what his money buys should be identified as his "unique contribution."

The steep rate of high school dropouts has focused the nation's spotlight on teen-age employment — and this study adds another dimension to the discussion. If you're a parent torn between worry about your child's becoming a "premature bread-winner" and resentment of his failure to appreciate how soft his life is, Feinberg's research may guide you:

Let him work, keep his pay, spend his earnings as he wishes and learn discretion and wisdom through his own experience.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, Sept. 1, the 245th day of 1964. There are 121 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1916, Congress passed the first child labor law, prohibiting interstate commerce in products of child labor. Two years later the Supreme Court ruled the act was unconstitutional, an illegal invasion of states' rights.

On this date
In 1850, the "Swedish Nightingale," Jenny Lind, arrived in New York.

In 1932, James J. Walker resigned as mayor of New York City.

In 1947, President Harry Truman arrived in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on a state visit. Ten years ago—The 36th national convention of the American Legion was being held in Washington, D.C.

Five years ago—the nation's major commercial banks raised their prime interest rates — charged customers with the best credit rating—from 4½ to 5 per cent.

One year ago — More than 100,000 demonstrators in Yokosuka and Sasebe, Japan, marched in protest against a proposed visit by American nuclear-powered submarines.

At Lockport, N. Y.

Bill Miller Born in Ordinary Irish-Catholic Neighborhood

BY ROBERT T. GRAY

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Miller, born here 50 years ago in what he calls "an ordinary Irish-Catholic middle-class neighborhood," reached a political pinnacle as he was about to forsake politics.

Some fellow townsmen appear a little dazed at developments but others who are better acquainted with William Edward Miller, the hard-hitting Republican vice-presidential nominee, profess no particular surprise.

Miller is the type of political candidate the folk of another era would have heralded as a self-made man. He was born in a two-story, cream-colored frame house. His father, in Miller's own words, was a maintenance man "or janitor or whatever you want to call it" for the city.

Parents Dead

His mother ran a dress and millinery shop not far from the family home. Both parents are dead.

Miller lived in the house in which he was born until he left home to attend Notre Dame University. After Notre Dame, he attended Albany Law School, served in the armed forces and returned to Lockport to practice law and begin a political career.

Mrs. W. Albert Condon, 75, a neighbor of the Millers, remembers his birth.

"His mother wasn't well afterward and I used to help take care of her," she explains.

Mrs. Condon, whose memories remain green in contrast to the black asphalt that now covers the site of the former Miller home at 36 South St., agrees with the candidate's own description of his birthplace.

Ordinary Neighborhood
"It's just an ordinary neighborhood, there's no rich people around here," she explains.

As a boy, Miller walked half a dozen blocks to St. Patrick's Parochial School. On Sunday, he walked to Mass at the parish church. After St. Patrick's, he walked to Lockport High School in a building now razed.

"We never had a car," Miller explains. "We walked almost everywhere."

As a young man, the vice-presidential nominee also walked away from the political party of his parents.

"They were long-time Democrats but shifted the first time I ran for office, for district attorney," Miller recalls.

If Miller had not become a Republican he probably would not have won his first election. Lockport is known as a Republican city.

Erie Canal
It grew out of the construction of the Erie Canal, built in the 1850s to link the Hudson River with Lake Ontario. Horse-drawn barges carried cargo that played an important role in development of the West.

At Lockport, husky construction crews slashed through a 60-foot escarpment. They created five locks that gave the city its name.

Storekeepers came to serve the canal workers. Many canal workers remained to cater to the needs of traffic. Miller isn't quite sure how or when his forebears came to Lockport, but it is possible they came with the canal, since he is at least the third generation of his family to live here.

In any event, the vice-presidential nominee's early history is closely linked with the Erie Canal, and its successor, the larger New York State Barge Canal.

Boarded Workers
Mrs. Condon remembers that two of the workers constructing the "new" canal boarded at the Millers' when Miller was a baby.

"One of them, Mr. Lynch — I never could remember his first name — held Bill in his arms one night. 'He's got the head of a statesman,' he told Mrs. Miller."

"I used to say to Mrs. Miller when Bill got to Congress, 'remember what Mr. Lynch said.'"

Modern Lockport is a far cry from the days of the rough and tough workmen who built the canal and the early boatmen who plied it. It is a city of gracious homes and dotted with churches and schools. About half of Lockport's work force of 10,000 is employed by the Harrison radiator plant of General Motors.

Although the city is divided neatly by the canal, the waterway has little effect on local economy. The canal long ago gave way to railway locomotives. But pleasure boats ply the canal, and Lockport, like most cities with adjacent water, has a marina.

Lockport Founders
The founders of Lockport dreamed of the city's becoming a major industrial center. Instead, greater industry centered at nearby Niagara Falls because of its cheap hydroelectric power. And Buffalo, 20 miles to the southeast, on Lake Erie, became the state's second largest city.

On the eve of "Bill Miller Day" and the formal opening here next Saturday of Miller's campaign, Lockport residents have two principal topics of conversation. Along with speculation about Miller's unexpected prominence, they worry about the possibility of general strikes in the automobile industry. A strike would close the radiator works and cripple local economy.

While a congressman, Miller has maintained a summer home in Olcott, 12 miles away on Lake Ontario, and another home in Washington. Before his nomination he had announced plans to retire from politics and resume the full-time practice of law in Lockport.

Miller's Lockport home, in retirement, was to have been on Willow Street, described by a resident as "one of the best."

"It's up on the hill," she explained.

Says Nation Wants to be Friendly With All Republics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, in his final State of the Union message, made clear today that Mexico will maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Lopez Mateos said Mexico's attitude was based on "serious doubts" on the advisability of judging Venezuela's charges against Cuba in the light of the inter-American reciprocal assistance treaty.

The Organization of American States in July called on all Latin-American nations to impose sanctions on the Fidel Castro regime in Cuba. The decision was based largely on Cuba's shipment of arms and supplies to the terrorist underground in Venezuela.

Cordial Relations With All

Lopez Mateos, in his speech prepared for delivery before a joint session of Congress, said Mexico has a "high concept" of its relations with all of the American republics and does not feel that "such affinities as history, race, and ideals could be erased by passing circumstances."

"We want to maintain with them clean, cordial and fruitful relations," Lopez Mateos said.

The Mexican president said that he and President Johnson will meet at El Paso, Tex., Sept. 25, in a ceremony marking the return to Mexico of the strip of land known as El Chamizal. It is a 400-foot piece of land originally Mexican, but cut off when the Rio Grande changed course a century ago.

Help for British Honduras

Lopez Mateos said settlement of this dispute was his "greatest satisfaction" in his six years in office. He leaves office Dec. 1.

Lopez Mateos, in his message, also:

Said Mexico will continue helping British Honduras strive for independence.

Predicted that the Colorado River salinity problem, which he termed the only serious one affecting U.S.-Mexican relations, will be solved late this year or by 1965.

Said Mexico no longer is an underdeveloped nation, inasmuch as his regime has surpassed all of his promises for economic development.

Stressed the stability of the Mexican peso and predicted Mexico's "healthy structure and diversified economy" will keep it that way for years to come.

And praised the memory of the late President John F. Kennedy, saying it will always fill a special place among the Mexican people because of his cordial expressions and memorable deeds toward Mexico.

Benefits to Elderly May Be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces in the Senate today pinned their hopes for adoption of a Social Security health care plan this year on a revised version of the King-Anderson proposal.

The new proposal was worked out and introduced late Monday after a series of fast-breaking conferences in the office of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Democratic vice-presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey, fresh from conferences with President Johnson in Texas, participated in the strategy meetings.

Offered by Gore

The revised plan was submitted and made the Senate's pending business by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who had been sponsoring the original King-Anderson measure as an amendment to a House-passed bill.

It thus will be up for the initial test in the Senate's consideration of the House bill, which would raise basic Social Security benefits but add no health care provisions.

The King-Anderson proposal, pushed by Democrats for several years, would provide hospitalization, nursing home care, diagnostic services and home health visits for Social Security recipients over 65.

Sponsors said a revision of cash benefits in the new plan should give the Senate a stronger bargaining position in the conference with the House if it is adopted in the Senate.

Long's Amendment

They said also that it should give them a better chance to defeat a rival amendment offered by Sen. Russell P. Long, D-La., Monday in a surprise move.

Long's amendment would provide a 7 per cent increase in cash benefits, instead of the 5 per cent voted by the House. It

Hitler March Marked By Germans on Both Sides of Red Wall

BERLIN (AP) — Germans on both sides of the Red wall in this old capital of Hitler's Reich today observed the fateful day a quarter of a century ago when the dictator sent his army crashing into Poland, setting off the worst war in history.

On the West side of the wall, it was a day honoring the soldier dead of the World War II Allies, including the Russians.

On the other side, an East German rally heard Communist leader Walter Ulbricht ask for full recognition for his regime by all who fought Hitler.

Hope Members Will Support President for Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO official AFL-CIO endorsement, CIO leaders are expected to urge some 12 million union members today to vote for President Johnson in November.

While spokesmen for the big labor federation refrained from predicting endorsement of Johnson in advance of the Executive Council and General Board meeting, there was no reason to doubt endorsement would be forthcoming.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has said he believes the Republican candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, wants to see the labor movement eliminated. Union officials down the line have been pelting Goldwater in their speeches, statements and publications.

A union official who usually votes Republican, Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, already has endorsed Johnson.

Oppose Goldwater

Hutcheson, a member of both the AFL-CIO Executive Council and the General Board, told the President in a letter this was the first time he had endorsed a Democratic candidate.

Sources close to the AFL-CIO top echelon said sentiment for a strong endorsement of Johnson is unanimous.

"It's not that they are so completely in love with Johnson but that they are so strongly against Goldwater," said one informed source.

shown that we can pull the tail of the Russians."

Artime said the radar station was defended by a garrison of 150 Cuban soldiers and three Soviet officers. The station was selected, he said, because it was used to detect Cubans fleeing their country by boat, especially those coming from Oriente and Camaguey provinces.

Artime asserted that once the refugees were spotted, speedy Soviet-built patrol boats were sent after them. He said the boats usually were commanded by a Russian and the refugees were always shot to death while crouching in their boats.

Took No Prisoners

No prisoners were ever taken, and bodies of women and children have been seen floating in the area, Artime declared.

He said the radar station and a lighthouse were located on Cabo Cruz, at the western tip of the southern coast of Oriente Province.

Artime spoke at the home of a Cuban friend here in Panama. He said he was leaving Panama for his headquarters in the Caribbean, but declined to say where it is.

Artime, 35, was a leader of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

Foundation Used For CIA Spending

Amount of Money Spent and Its Disposal Not Disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators shifted their course today after hearing that the Central Intelligence Agency had channeled some of its secret spending through a private foundation.

Little was heard of the hush-hush operation beyond testimony that official funds had been spent through the J. M. Kaplan Fund, a tax-exempt foundation. The amount of the money and its destination were not disclosed.

The House Small Business

subcommittee turns today, instead, to foundations associated with Texas millionaire H. L. Hunt.

The brief testimony about CIA funds, brought out from reluctant Internal Revenue Service witnesses Monday, resulted in an hour-long, closed-door session later of subcommittee members with the revenue officials and Lt. Gen. Marshall S. Carter, deputy CIA director.

Afterward the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., told newsmen his group would not pursue further the CIA aspects of Kaplan Fund affairs. The subcommittee is investigating the fund along with others in its study of tax exemption for charitable foundations.

"We are convinced the CIA does not belong in this foundation investigation," Patman said after the conference. "We are dropping it so far as the CIA is concerned."

Testimony Not Challenged

Patman said, however, the testimony taken had not been contradicted and would stand and that the subcommittee would continue later its investigation of the Kaplan Fund. He has said its founder has "waged a number of battles" to take over companies, in some cases using "funds set up and dominated by him."

Weapons and Bombs Found By Policemen

Headquarters of Negro Group in Philadelphia Raided

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The national headquarters of Negro group was raided by police inside the riot-torn section of North Philadelphia, where quiet reigned today after a weekend of looting and pillaging.

The four-square mile area still was under tight security, with a 24-hour curfew in effect and more than 1,200 policemen on patrol.

Mayor James H. J. Tate said the restrictions will remain in effect at least until Labor Day.

In a statement late Monday night, the mayor said the area was "extremely quiet," with even less activity than normal.

"I think we are out of the woods," he said, "but we are still watching the situation."

100 Policemen

A squad of 100 policemen made the raid Monday upon Cultural Center, two blocks from where the riots broke out late Friday night.

Inspector Millard Meers, who led the raid, said police found flammable fluids used for making fire bombs, a loaded revolver, two bayonets and a knife.

They arrested Shakyh Muhammad, described by Meers as a former member of the Black Muslims.

Titan 3A Rocket Fails in 3rd Stage To Achieve Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Titan 3A military space rocket blasted off on its maiden test flight today but failed to propel its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform.

Tracking stations lost radio contact with the rocket 13 minutes after it was launched.

Nearly two hours later, the Air Force announced that the third stage had failed to achieve an intended orbit.

Nevertheless, an official reported that 95 per cent of the test objectives were achieved on this initial flight for a rocket which is being developed to help give the United States military superiority in space.

4 Arrested in Trooper's Death

RAEFORD, N.C. (AP) — Four Negroes were charged today in the slaying of a North Carolina patrolman who attempted to arrest one of them late Monday.

Trooper W. T. Herbin's body was found in a cornfield off U.S. 401 near his patrol car. He had been shot three times in the forehead, with bullets fired from his own revolver.

Raeftord Police Chief L. W. Stanton said Willie Smith Jr., about 35, confessed to the shooting after several hours of questioning. Stanton said Smith was charged with murder.

Charged as accessories to murder were Will Allan, Albert Reeves and Rudy Clegg Bruton, all of Pinehurst. Smith and one of the others were held in jail in Raeftord. The other two were taken to nearby Moore County.

Worst Catastrophe in History'

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (AP) — A world famine striking "hundreds of millions or even billions of human beings" is near, a scientist-economist warned today.

"It will be the most colossal catastrophe in history," declared Dr. Raymond Ewell, vice president for research, State University of New York at Buffalo.

Scientist Envisions Worldwide Famine Within Next 2 Decades

ceeding this way is only a few years away, he said.

Birth control is the ultimate answer, Dr. Ewell said, but its effects on the food-population problem will be slow. Unless birth control is applied, however, the famine would still come regardless of boosts in food production, he said.

"It is hard for us sitting in rich, comfortable, overfed America to realize that the greatest disaster in the history of the world is just around the corner."

"Historians of the future may remark on whether it was more important to have worked towards putting a man on the moon during the 1960s, or to have worked towards averting the world famine of the 1970s," he said.

By present trends, "it seems likely that the famine will reach serious proportions in India, Pakistan and China in the early 1970s, followed by Indonesia, Iran, Turkey, Egypt and several other countries within a few years, and then followed by most of the other countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America by 1980," Dr. Ewell predicted.

Population in these areas will increase by about one billion persons in 20 years, but food output has not been increasing, he said.

Stable governments could not exist under such famines, he said. People would be too weak to work, be affected mentally, yet modern medicine would keep many starving people from dying of diseases.

Urges Higher Yields

"There is still time for a crash program that might avert the situation — by supplying fertilizers" that could boost yields of rice, wheat, corn and other crops by 50 to 100 per cent more, he said.

Plants to produce the millions of tons of needed fertilizer would cost about $5 billions — "about one-tenth the cost of putting a man on the moon," Dr. Ewell said.

Dr. Ewell said birth rates of about two to nearly three per cent of population per year in those countries must be reduced to about one per cent if ultimate disaster is to be avoided.

Revised Plan In Senate on Health Care

also would liberalize the earnings test so that persons receiving Social Security could make more money and still not lose their benefits.

The revisions worked out in the administration package would change the 5 per cent boost in benefits of the House bill to a $7 a month increase, raise the wage base to $5,600 instead of $5,400 in the House bill, and cut the nursing home care under the King-Anderson plan from 180 days to 60 days.

King-Anderson supporters charged that Long's proposal would kill chances of a health care plan by using up revenues needed to finance it.

Higher Taxes
They pointed out that if Long's more generous cash benefits schedule were adopted, it would force Social Security taxes eventually up to 10 per cent. It would be difficult and perhaps impossible to vote higher levies on top of this to finance health costs, they argued.

About 18 million persons over 65 would be eligible immediately for the benefits of the plan if it were written into law.

Under present law, the eventual maximum Social Security tax is 4.625 per cent each for employer and employee, on a $4,800 wage base.

Under the House bill, the rate ceiling would be 4.8 per cent each, on a $5,400 base.

Under the Long amendment, it would be 5 per cent each on a $5,400 base. Under the new Gore amendment, it would be 5.2 per cent each on a $5,600 base.

Justice Bureau Finds No Estes Gift to Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says it has investigated and found to be "without any foundation in fact" an allegation that Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., accepted $50,000 from Billie Sol Estes four years ago.

The department said Monday it is closing its books on the matter. Gordon McLendon, who lost to Yarborough May 2 in Texas Democratic Senate primary, charged "whitewash."

The allegation that Yarborough received money from Estes was made during the primary by Ernest Keeton, a former chauffeur for Estes. Appearing on a televised campaign program for McLendon, a Dallas radio executive and onetime baseball broadcaster, Keeton

Governors, News Executives Meet

Forecasting of Election Results Under Discussion

NEW YORK (AP) — A committee of state governors who recently expressed concern about the forecasting of election results before polls are closed in some areas, met Monday with news media executives.

Nevada Gov. Grant Sawyer, chairman of the national Governors' Conference, said after the all-day closed meeting: "The broadcasting media share the concern of the nation's governors that premature declarations of election victories might influence the election results in those areas where the polls have not closed."

One proposal said to have been discussed was for a uniform poll-closing time nationally. This was to insure that Western voters would not be influenced by early returns reported from the East.

Sawyer said afterward, however, "there was general agreement that studies are inconclusive on whether or not the reporting of election results affects an elector's decision to vote."

Idaho's Cannon Before Voters For Re-Election

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Democratic Sen. Howard W. Cannon seeks renomination in the Nevada primary election today against charges by his opponents that he has not represented the state effectively in Washington.

His opponents also have tried to link Cannon, 52 of Las Vegas, unfavorably with Bobby Baker, the former Democratic Senate secretary whose financial affairs were investigated by the Senate.

Nevada voters also were choosing nominees for the state's only seat in the U.S. House, state legislative posts and a variety of local offices.

Secretary of State John Koontz forecast a turnout of about 90,000, or approximately 61 per cent of the state's 146,368 registered voters, a primary record. The weather was expected to be unseasonably cool and rainy in much of the state.

Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt, 42, personable and handsome Carson City attorney, was heavily favored to win the GOP Senate nomination.

He said he saw Estes give Yarborough an envelope containing the money on Nov. 6, 1960.

Couple Finds New Way to Make Friends for America

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — An American digging a hole makes more friends than for foreign aid, says the oldest couple in the Peace Corps after a 20-month assignment in the Peruvian slums.

Chester Wiggins, 67, a former construction engineer, and his wife Barbara, 65, a teacher, returned home Monday and are awaiting their Peace Corps discharge.

Their assignment was to help some of the poor people of Arequipa.

Made Friends
"We've made more friends than I ever got," they said. "We lived in a barriada, a squatter's settlement," added Wiggins. "There are about 57 barriadas in Arequipa and all 57 Peace Corps volunteers lived in them."

Their little room attracted the curious who came by each day to peer in and watch.

"I put a block outside the window so the kids could get a good look in," Wiggins said.

When they arrived in the city of 112,700 — located at 9,000 feet in southern Peru — there was little water, no bathrooms, no sewers, and no schoolhouse.

"We started out on the ground under the only tree in our barriada," said Mrs. Wiggins of her class of 75 children. "Then we found a building without a roof; then we moved into one with a door; and finally, with a loan from the Peruvian government to the city, we got a regular schoolhouse."

Water Tanks
Wiggins helped put up some 500 water tanks, over 3,000 cesspools, 300 new homes, and 150 new bathrooms as well as a modern nursery in the $30,000 school.

"It's the ideal thing for all those people who refuse to let others pull down the curtain on their life," Wiggins said.

"All those little aches and pains I had before I left — why down there I didn't take the slightest bit of notice of them," said his gray-blond wife. "The only pain I've got is a little ache to get going again."

Poland Marks Anniversary Of Invasion

German's March Recalled Start Of World War II

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The 25th anniversary of Germany's invasion of Poland — the fateful start of World War II — is being recalled today in Poland with rallies, speeches and mourning.

Top Polish leaders are appearing at rallies in Warsaw and in Gdansk, the former free city of Danzig. It was in Danzig that the first shots sounded at 4:45 a.m. Sept. 1, 1939, when the German cruiser Schleswig-Holstein shelled Westerplatte, a tiny Polish enclave across the Bay of Danzig.

In West Germany, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard observed the anniversary by declaring that Germans want nothing more to do with war.

Radio Speech
In a radio speech Monday, Erhard said: "The Germans — of this I am certain — have learned from horrible experience and their whole longing is to achieve a true peace."

"We Germans will be specially reminded of the disaster of 1939, which was unleashed in our name by a brutal ruler. We must own up to this historical fact."

Anniversary rallies also were held Monday. The Polish Press Agency said the largest gathering was at Bytom, Upper Silesia, attended by 100,000 persons.

Edward Giersek, a member of the Polish Communist party's Politburo, told the rally: "We bow our heads to all our sisters and brothers who fell in the defense of this fatherland in that unequal fight."

Giersek said Poland's security now is guaranteed by the "material and defensive strength of the entire Socialist (Communist) camp, especially of the Soviet Union."

At dusk in Warsaw Monday night, a solemn roll call of soldiers who died in the early hours of the war was read at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier by Gen. Josef Dziadura, commander of the Warsaw garrison. After each name, drums beat a ly into the Republican edge in the state Senate.

Gov. George Romney is challenged on the GOP ticket by former state Sen. George Higginson, a Ferndale auto dealer who is a staunch backer of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

The GOP candidate will face Rep. Neil Staebler, who is unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Three Republicans competed for the right to try to unseat Democratic incumbent Philip Hart, a first-term senator with no primary opposition.

They are Mrs. Eily Peterson, recently resigned as assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee; James O'Neil, a member of the State Board of Education, and Edward Meany Jr., a leather goods sales promotion manager.

In the congressional races, 17 incumbents are seeking nomination but at least two will be knocked out of the running.

Redistricting has pitted incumbent Democratic Reps. Lucien Nedzi and Harold Ryan against each other in the 14th District and Democrat John Dingell against John Lesinski in the 16th District.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Doctors watching Sgt. Alvin York's latest battle with death reported early today the 76-year-old Medal of Honor winner remained in "very grave" condition.

Members of the family waited at the bedside of the hero of World War I, who doctors said was suffering from an acute urinary tract infection. York has been hospitalized 11 times in the past two years.

Chilton Council Will Appoint Alderman For Third Ward

2 Seek Post Vacated When Incumbent Left Community

CHILTON—The city council tonight will elect an alderman to fill the vacancy left when Jerome Daun resigned his Third Ward post.

Daun was elected in April when he defeated Dr. Miles Agee. He became ineligible for the position when he moved from the ward.

At the Aug. 11 council meeting applications for the post were requested. Arthur Pohland, city clerk, said this week two persons had applied.

The person selected will serve until April, 1965, when an alderman will be elected to fill the vacancy until 1966 when Daun's term would have expired.

Other Duties
Daun served on street, public property, fire department and the police and fire committees. His elected replacement will assume these responsibilities.

Although not included on the agenda, the council is expected to discuss the purchasing of softening material and related equipment to update the No. 1 pumping station at E Main and Pennsylvania streets.

Water from the Webster-Douglas Street well presently being developed 100 yards east of the pumping station will be piped through the existing pumping facilities.

Bids Explanation
The pumping station was shut down three years ago when it became contaminated with fuel oil.

Bids on the softening material and related equipment were opened at the Aug. 18 meeting.

$350 Damage in Hit, Run Crash At Waupaca

WAUPACA—Damages of more than $350 resulted from a hit and run accident on Franklin Street early Monday morning. A car owned by Joe D. Hogan, 24, 306 Franklin St., was parked in front of his home when it was struck by an auto driven by Richard Taylor, 29, route 1, Waupaca, according to police.

After striking the Hogan car as he was turning around in a driveway, Taylor left the scene of the accident, police said. He told city police later Monday he knew who the owner of the car was and was going to contact him later in the day.

More than $300 in damage resulted to the Hogan car and an estimated $50 damage to the front of the Taylor car.

Taylor was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $50 and costs in Waupaca Municipal Court.

Meat Packer Says NFO Members Harassing Sellers

Armour Meat Packing Co. authorities from Green Bay complained to the Outagamie County sheriff's department shortly before 11 a.m. Monday that National Farmers Organization (NFO) pickets were harassing cattle sellers at a branch buying station at Dale.

Sheriff's authorities warned three pickets at the station they must stay off packing company property when attempting to talk to business there.

A company manager, Roger Kneppel, said the cattle sellers became irritated at times when NFO members attempted to persuade them not to sell cattle.

He said there had been no serious incidents.

12 Milwaukee Youths Pay Fines After 2 Parties at Chain O'Lakes

WAUPACA—Twelve Milwaukee youths, charged with either furnishing beer to persons under 21 years old or possession of beer, paid a total of $750 in fines when they appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen Monday.

The youths, who were in two separate groups, were arrested Saturday night at the Chain O'Lakes after several complaints were received by the sheriff's office.

Seven of the youths, who were from either Cudahy or Milwaukee, were having a party at a motel near the lakes and were creating a disturbance, police said. When Sheriff Loran Frazier investigated, he found the youths not only were having a party but also had damaged furniture in the room. One of the youths had a highway sign in his possession and he was planning to take it home as a souvenir.

Twelve Judges To Participate In Calumet Fair

Placing to Begin 9 a.m., Saturday; Will End by 4 p.m.

CHILTON—Twelve state accredited judges will grade livestock during the Calumet County Fair this weekend.

Judging begins at 9 a.m. Saturday and will be completed by 4 p.m. County Agricultural Agent, Orrin Meyer, said Monday.

Since 80 per cent of the premiums are paid by the state, only state accredited judges can be used, Meyer said.

Marney Sheridan, Fond du Lac, will judge dairy cattle; Paul Wolske, Kewaunee, sheep, swine and beef; John Long, Madison, bees and honey; R. J. Rensink, Manitowoc, crafts and conservation; Emil Zorn, Plymouth, dairy products; H. J. Sonn, Fond du Lac, flowers; Joe Walker, Waupaca, crops and vegetables; Norman Jennings, Fond du Lac, horses and poultry; Donna Dempsey, Barron, clothing and child care; Betty Holten, Manitowoc, clothing and home furnishings; and Mrs. Richard Smith, Manitowoc, home economics and food preservation.

Man Buys Camp to Lease, Sell to Appleton YMCA

A fully equipped camp on Waubesa Lake 96 miles north of Appleton has been purchased by an Appleton man to lease and eventually sell to the Appleton YMCA.

The Appleton YMCA, which previously has had to send its campers to other area Y camps when possible, will begin a full summer camping program there next year and tentatively will make some fall and winter use of the camp this year.

Herbert Holtz, a member of the Y board of directors, purchased the camp for $67,000 and will lease it to the Appleton YMCA for $1 a year with the understanding the YMCA will purchase the property as soon as it has funds available.

"This was so good an opportunity we could not afford not to buy it," Holtz said. "Since the Y did not have the funds to buy it now because of its construction program, I offered to make the purchase." The new property is "a complete camp in operating condition today," he said.

Sold by Chicagoan
The camp is being purchased from the Rev. Dimmock Steeves, a Chicago clergyman who has operated it for Chicago children only. It is about eight years old.

The property will be paid for in one lump sum, as the owner requested, Holtz said. The payment and acquisition will be completed within two weeks, he said. The abstracts of title are

Reynolds Stumps for Himself, LBJ; Criticizes GOP Stands

Article in Pravda Calls It Tough to Be Communist in U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press commemorated today the 45th anniversary of the founding of the U. S. Communist party with an article on how tough it is to be a Communist in the United States.

The article, by American Communist leader Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, appeared in Pravda, official voice of the Soviet Communist party. She wrote that FBI agents follow American Communists everywhere. "Their mail is opened and read. Party members under FBI surveillance lose their jobs. Spies are infiltrated into the party, to testify against Communists at trials."

Governor Talks to 75 Outagamie Democrats in Swing Through Area

BY PATRICK McELHINNEY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — Campaigning for President Lyndon B. Johnson, as much as for himself, Gov. John W. Reynolds here Wednesday criticized the Republican party on state and national levels.

The Democratic governor, seeking his second term, kept a crowd of about 75 Outagamie

John W. Reynolds

County Democrats waiting for about 40 minutes in the banquet room of the Hub Bar here before he arrived.

Reynolds denied being in favor of a sales tax but said he signed the compromise "tax" bill because he did not want to see a cut in the budget which would result in Interchange Asked at 41, College Ave.

Appleton's request for an interchange at U.S. 41 and W. College Avenue (State 175) has been forwarded to the Wisconsin Highway Commission at Madison.

City officials received word today from L. W. Empey, Green Bay, district engineer, who first received the common council's resolution.

It (the resolution) has been studied here and forwarded to Madison for commission review," Empey said. "It can be anticipated that a communication will be forthcoming from the commission or Madison office staff on this subject."

There is indication the interchange project will not be planned before 1969.

City officials, along with those from surrounding communities, have asked the state to expedite the project, citing the heavy traffic and dangers at the intersection.

Surplus Foods Taken, Were Intended for Pigs

Sheriff Calvin Spice said he would turn over a report to the Outagamie County Welfare Department from a Clintonville man who complained this weekend about 400 pounds of stored surplus commodity food was stolen from his former home in Bear Creek.

Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke said the former Bear Creek man told him he intended to keep the food to give to pigs.

The man said the foodstuffs—flour, beans, corn, and oatmeal—were stored in a home now occupied by his brother.

He also attacked Rep. John W. Byrnes, Eighth District congressman, as a man who had not represented the welfare of the people. He did not mention the veteran congressman by name but commended Kaukauna Mayor Joseph (Doty) Bayargeon, Democratic candidate for the post, for entering the race against Byrnes.

It is at the congressional level, Reynolds said, "that you have an honest debate on the national issues."

Braise For Johnson
Reynolds devoted most of his speech to the national campaign and in praising the record of President Johnson. He did, however, describe his own record to the partisan crowd.

Knowles and Goldwater are "echoes" of each other, Reynolds said. "Both have clear records of fighting against progressive legislation," he said.

While Knowles has linked himself with Goldwater's "outdated fictions," Reynolds said, he himself has an "eye-to-eye" partnership with Lyndon Johnson.

The governor, who came to Madison from Green Bay, said he was "afraid" of the consequences if the Republican presidential slate were elected.

Key State
And, he said, Wisconsin would be one of the key states in deciding the outcome of the November election.

Weyauwega Student Selected Waupaca Honey Queen at Fair

WEYAUWEGA — Mary Kraus was named Waupaca County Honey Queen on the closing day of the county fair at the fairgrounds here Sunday.

Miss Kraus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Kraus, Waupaca, is a senior at Weyauwega Union High School. She also is vice president of the county 4-H Junior Leaders Council.

Winners in three classes of the tractor pulling contest were: Light class, under 5,000 pounds — John Scharschmidt, Markesan; Dean Hahn, DeForest; Charles Appleton, Kaukauna; Arlyn McNichols, Hortonville, and Wayne Kirchner, Shiocton.

Medium class, under 6,500 pounds — Darrell Zitske, Bear Creek; John Brench, Waunawakee; Arlyn Bauer, Weyauwega; Lester Romberg, Oshkosh, and Douglas Polzin, Almond.

Heavy class, under 8,500 pounds — Bill Pett, Fremont; Bill Huebner, Waupaca; John Walch, Mauston; Virgil Papp, Dane, and Pat Wilcox, Seymour.

Ronald Hein, Manawa, won the 4-H tractor operators contest.

Other blue ribbon winners were Wayne Eisentraut, Jim Danke, David Arndt, LeRoy Beyer, Terry Wendi, Pete Peters and Randall Thompson.

Harness races were held Saturday and Sunday.

Patricia Zick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zick, route 1, Weyauwega, was crowned Waupaca County Fair Queen Sunday. Princesses were Margaret O'Brien and Sherry Beth Nehring.

The fair closed with the Wisconsin Idea Theater presentation, "Hodag," and a fireworks display.

Cottage Near Stockbridge

STOCKBRIDGE — Firemen here were called to extinguish a house fire at 1:15 a.m. Monday at the Juro Glat residence, south of the village on Lake Winnebago.

Fire Chief Clifford Mayer said the small, year-around cottage was completely destroyed by the fire. He estimated damages to be between $4,000 and $5,000.

Mayer said the fire was discovered by motorists on State 55. The flames were visible more than a mile away.

By the time firemen arrived, only the walls of the building remained, Mayer said.

Suffer Cuts

Olvarado suffered a cut on his elbow and Elida Olvarado, 7, also of Austin, complained of pains in her back and stomach. Both were treated at Wild Rose Hospital.

The mishap occurred on the Crystal Lake Road, three miles south of Parkfreyle.

The car was demolished. At 9:53 p.m. Sunday, Don W. Miller, 46, 715 W. 10th St., Kaukauna, suffered severe head cuts when the car he was driving left U.S. 10 two miles east of Fremont and struck a telephone pole. Police said, "Miller was traveling east when his car went onto the south shoulder of the highway, crossed over onto the north shoulder where it hit a bank, overturned and struck the pole. The car was demolished."

Colleagues Urge Judge

The committee will accept applications for the position and also will seek persons qualified to determine if they would be interested in the position.

Colleagues of Judge Parnell urged him last week to seek the position and advise him at a meeting at Eagle River that "his experience and reputation would give the law school prestige."

Wolf River Betterment Group's Aim

NEW LONDON—A committee to decide the type of attack on pollution of the Wolf River in New London will be appointed at the meeting of the common council Tuesday.

The committee will meet with Borden Foods Co., officials and representatives of Donohue & Associates, a Chicago engineering firm.

The pollution matter had been brought up in a Wisconsin Public Health hearing at Clintonville last week.

The meeting will determine a plan to improve or increase capacity of the sewage treatment plant. Some storm sewers have been added to city problems by overcrowding the plant.

City-School Nurse

The council gave permission to Ald. Grace Stern (3rd) to contact the school board to discuss hiring a joint city-school nurse. Neither the city or school district has a nurse at the time.

Mrs. Stern said local doctors had been alarmed over the high rate of communicable diseases during the last school year. She said she had held meetings with State Board of Health officials, doctors and a nurse in the area on the matter.

Mrs. Stern will attempt to set up a date for a meeting in which she can present the proposal for a joint city-school nurse.

New London City Clerk Has Absentee Ballots

NEW LONDON — Absentee ballots for the Sept. 8 primary election can be picked up at the city clerk's office.

Melva Rickaby, clerk, announced her office would be open between 10 a.m. and noon Saturday for those people who cannot pick up ballots during the week.

Judge to Consider Marquette Position

Andrew Parnell Says He Would Be Law School Dean if Requested

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell, 62, Appleton, said Monday he would consider seriously the position as dean of the Marquette University Law School if the job were offered to him.

However, Judge Parnell said, he did not plan to make application for the position which will become vacant next summer with the resignation of Dean Reynolds C. Seitz.

Marquette University officials in Milwaukee today said a committee of school representatives and members of the "working bar" will be formed into a committee which will select a candidate for the position. The committee will be headed by the Rev. S. J. Rayner, academic president.

Colleagues Urge Judge

The committee will accept applications for the position and also will seek persons qualified to determine if they would be interested in the position.

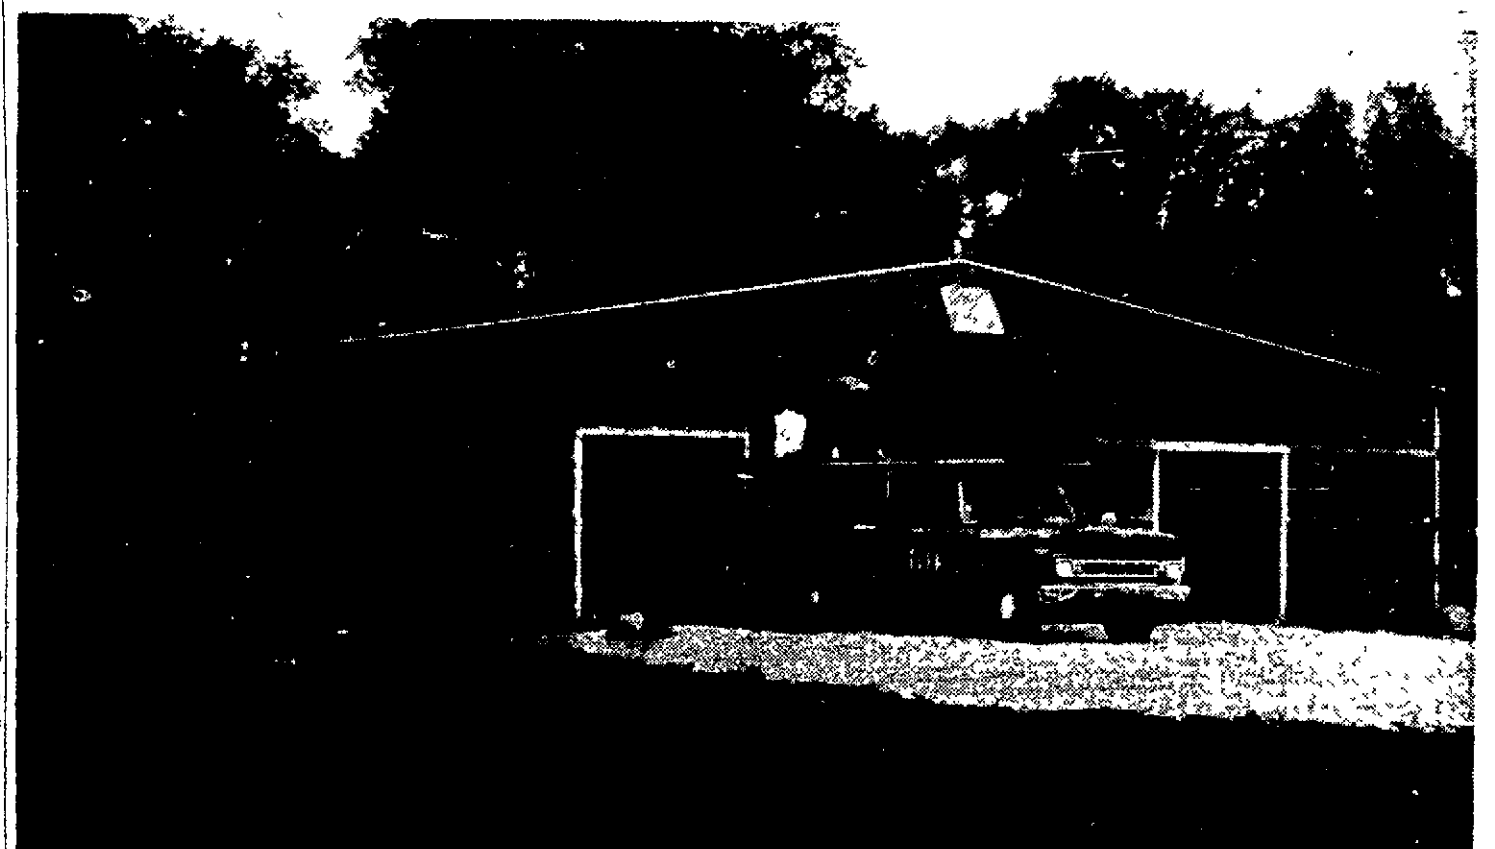

Colleagues of Judge Parnell urged him last week to seek the position and advise him at a meeting at Eagle River that "his experience and reputation would give the law school prestige."

Parnell told friends at the meeting "I am not seeking the position. However, if I should be approached by Marquette University authorities I would certainly explore the possibilities of operating the law school on a basis which would make it outstanding."

Parnell was graduated from the MU law school in 1927 and was a widely known trial lawyer. He was appointed judge for the 10th Circuit Court district (Langlade, Outagamie, Shawano and Menominee counties) in 1952.

Given Special Seminars
Judge Parnell has worked to streamline court procedures and practices and has been elected as an officer and chairman of the Conference of State Trial Judges. He has been named a director of the American Bar Association and lectures throughout the country in special seminars for judges.

Circuit Judge Herbert J. Stefanes, a part-time law instructor at MU, said at a recent convention of National Conference of State Trial Judges that under Judge Parnell's leadership, the judiciary in Wisconsin had won national prestige.

A New 50 by 84-Foot building is being constructed at the Calumet County Fairgrounds in Chilton. The new all-steel structure will be finished by fall time, Sept. 4-7. It will be used for younger livestock and calves and will house an estimated 100 head of cattle. It will be named the Oscar G. Moehrke Memorial Building in honor of a late past president of the fair, Association. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Data Processing to Be Demonstrated for Business Faculties

Business education teachers from the Appleton, Oshkosh and Green Bay vocational and adult schools will participate in a one-day institute in the Appleton Vocational School Thursday.

The program will be conducted by the business education faculties from 9 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

It will feature a demonstration of the Appleton Vocational School's new data processing equipment by Mrs. Clifford Boettcher, data processing instructor. She will develop a problem in business and solve it by use of the electronic data processing equipment. The demonstration will include all steps from definition of the problem through the procedures and application of the equipment.

The program will be opened at 9 a.m. by Joe Gunderson, business education coordinator at the Appleton Vocational School. Mrs. Boettcher's demonstration will be from 9:15 to 11:50 a.m., and will be concluded from 12:50 to 1:20 p.m. when the problem is run on the machine.

An informal luncheon is scheduled at the Appleton Elks Club at 11:50 a.m.

Allan Lindgren, business education coordinator at the Green Bay Vocational and Adult School, will lead the discussion from 1:20 to 1:50 p.m.

Jack Smythe and Vernon Swenson from the state office of vocational and adult education will discuss the Vocational Education Act of 1963 as implemented by the state plan to business education at 1:50 p.m., and Richard P. Duffy, business education coordinator from the Oshkosh Vocational and Adult School will lead the discussion at 2:15 p.m.

Elmer Miller, business education instructor at the Appleton Vocational School, will conduct the concluding summary of the institute from 2:50 to 3:15 p.m.

Youth, 19, Faces Trial On Intoxication Count

Clyde K. Chapman, Jr., 19, route 4, Appleton, will face trial Sept. 17 on a charge of public intoxication. He posted bond of $100 Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Chapman was arrested by Appleton police Saturday on W. College Avenue.

Absentee Votes May Be Cast Now For Fall Primary

Appleton residents who will not be in the city next Tuesday (election day) can cast their absentee ballots at the city clerk's office this week.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said he will have special office hours Thursday and Friday (8 a.m. to 8 p.m.) as a convenience for those wishing to cast absentee ballots.

Broehm also reminded that requests for absentee ballots must be in his office by Friday so they can be mailed out Saturday. Monday is a legal holiday with all municipal offices closed.

Broehm's staff is in the process of preparing poll lists for Tuesday's election. The official voter registration total will not be known until Wednesday.

In the April election, 21,000 Appleton voters were registered but only 15,417 voted.

Heavy Rains Pelt Eastern Seaboard

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A portion of the nation's Eastern seaboard got a heavy rain today from what weathermen said was the disintegrating tropical storm Cleo.

The Naval Air Station at Norfolk, Va., got nearly 5 1/2 inches of rain and the Oceana Naval Air Station near Norfolk, about 4 1/2 inches during the same period.

Thunderstorms and heavy rain also hit the nation's mid-section. Heavy winds and hail accompanied the rain in the Russell-Gorham-Hays sections of Kansas.

Several tornadoes struck the towns Monday night, damaging farm property and utility lines. Unofficial reports of Monday's rain stated Gorham got about 11 inches of rain, and Osborne, about 35 miles northeast of Russell, 6 to 8 inches.

At Rapid City, S.D., Monday a storm brought down hail the size of hen eggs.

Cool weather gripped most of the northern half of the country early today. Temperatures were mostly in the 40s, throughout the area, but some towns in Upper Michigan had readings in the 30s. At Marquette, the low was 38 degrees.

Woman Dies of Crash Injury

Mrs. Bertha Strum Hurt Sunday in Green Bay Mishap

A postmortem examination conducted on a 75-year-old Neenah woman who died early today in an Appleton hospital following an auto accident Sunday afternoon in Green Bay shows she died of injuries received in the accident.

Bernard H. Kemps, Outagamie County coroner, said the examination showed Mrs. Bertha Strum, 2175 N. U.S. 41, died from brain injuries received in the crash.

Also Injured

Two other Appleton women, also passengers in the Stennis car, were injured. Mrs. May Strutz, 1019 Lawe St., and Mrs. Irene Flynn, 823 W. Oklahoma St., received leg injuries. Mrs. Stennis incurred a possible broken hand and Mrs. Strum, the deceased woman, head injuries.

Mrs. Stennis told police she didn't see a stop sign and thought the other car would stop. She was cited for going through a stop sign.

All four women were treated and released from St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay. On the way home Mrs. Strum became ill and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton.

Kemps said Mrs. Strum had a history of heart disease and had been ill the past three years.

One Life Insurance Plan Might Cover All Appleton Employees

One life insurance plan should cover all city employees, the Appleton Personnel Committee agreed informally Monday.

It plans to make an attempt to put employees of all municipal boards, agencies and commissions under the same plan. The committee indicated its interest in the Group Life Insurance for Employees of Wisconsin Municipalities which is available through a Minnesota firm.

Members of the police department, firemen and school teachers have asked the committee to check into the plan.

Rural School Windows Smashed, Sheriff Told

Windows at the Maple Grove School, Center Valley Road at the French Road, were broken sometime over the weekend, the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department has learned. School officials said "nearly all" the windows were broken. An investigation is being conducted.

Methodist Pastors' School in Second Day With Lectures, Panels

Audio Visual Workshop Planned Tonight, Special Worship Service Set at 8 O'Clock

Methodist ministers of Wisconsin began the second day of Pastors' School today of lectures, discussions and workshops.

Bishop Ralph Taylor Alton set the tone for the series of evening services Monday by discussing unconventional means of relating the Christian gospel.

Bishop Alton delivered his sermon in the first person, as if he were Joseph of Arimathea.

Dr. Richard R. Teeter, staff physician at the Milwaukee Psychiatric Hospital, spoke Monday on the mental and physical development of children.

Speaking Monday afternoon was Dr. F. Thomas Trotter, dean and associate professor of religion and arts at Southern California School of Theology, Claremont, Calif. Dr. Trotter said preachers and novelists need each other. There is a growing religious awareness in modern novels. Ministers, too, can learn from the novelist, who does not have to correlate, just mirror life as it is lived and see beneath beauty and ugliness.

Face Crisis
The world of both the minister and the artist faces a crisis of communication because of the erosion of faith and the erosion of the meaning of the structure of man's life, Dr. Trotter said.

"We are living in a time of spiritual flabbiness," Dr. Trotter said, "when it doesn't matter what you believe as long as you believe something."

Dr. Trotter, Dr. Teeter and Dr. Richard Toner participated in a panel discussion on the theme of the school, "Man and the Contemporary World." Bishop Alton was moderator.

Tipsy Driver Sent to Jail

Does Not Have $100, Gets 30-Day Sentence From Waupaca Court

Lawrence Kolosso, 25, Ogdensburg, was sentenced to 30 days in the Waupaca County jail Monday when he was unable to pay a $100 fine about pleading guilty of driving while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage.

Kolosso appeared in Waupaca Municipal Justice Court. He was arrested at 2:20 a.m. Sunday west of Manawa after he was seen driving erratically.

Over $200 Damage Set In Village Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — Over $200 damage resulted, but no one was injured in a 2-car accident on County Trunk OO and County Trunk N about 9:45 Sunday night, according to village police.

The accident happened as John Smith, 51, 1334 Dousman St., Green Bay, was attempting to make a left turn from OO onto N when his car collided with a vehicle driven by Frederick Verhagen, 28, route 4, Appleton.

Wauwatosa Driver Pays $50 Conduct Fine
Mrs. Vilet Kebis, 7007 W. Lloyd St., Wauwatosa, was fined $50 today after she pleaded no contest to disorderly conduct. She appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

County Patrolman Robert Keating arrested Mrs. Kebis Sunday night on County Trunk OO after she became abusive when Keating offered to help her get her automobile out of a ditch. She was taken to the county jail where she posted bond. She was released Monday.

State Taxpayer Report

Appleton is one of the few Wisconsin cities that has not carried out a planned municipal annexation in 1964 while elsewhere in the state there was a sharp increase in annexations during the first six months of this year.

The report was issued in Madison today by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance.

From Jan. 1 to June 1, there were 124 proposed annexations submitted to the state director of planning for review. That compares with the 114 for all of 1963.

38 Acres
Appleton annexed 38 acres in 1963, most of it undeveloped residential subdivisions. However, the city council has passed on several proposed subdivisions just outside the city's corporate limits during the past two years.

Cities with the greatest number of annexations submitted to the state for review in 1962 and 1963 were Kenosha, 33; Madison, 27; Janesville, 20; Beloit, 18; Racine, 15, and Brookfield, 14.

Last year a spokesman for the State Department of Resource Development recommended Appleton annex the territory from the west city limits to U.S. 41.

Need More
City Assessor John Pierre recently told city officials Appleton needs more area to expand. The alliance reported that 64 per cent of the state's population is now urban, compared with 58 per cent a decade ago.

Fond du Lac Man Hurt in Calumet Truck Accident

CHILTON—Edmund Schuessler, 63, Fond du Lac was severely injured at 4:10 p.m., Monday, when the truck he was driving left a town road, five miles northeast of Stockbridge.

Schuessler suffered a broken right arm and leg along with multiple bruises. He is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital.

New Teachers Welcomed by V. I. Minahan

Paper Publisher Calls Appleton 'Growing, Exciting'

About 130 new public and parochial school teachers Monday were welcomed to Appleton as "a growing, prosperous and exciting city in which to live" by V. I. Minahan, publisher of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

The teachers were guests at a luncheon sponsored by the industrial division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce in Butte des Morts Country Club.

Following the luncheon they were given tours of the city and its business and industry by chamber members.

Minahan gave the new teachers a profile of Appleton and the Fox Cities, pointing out that during the last decade Appleton has been "one of the most prosperous and fastest growing cities in Wisconsin and the Middle West."

"Unusual Community"
"Appleton for its size is an unusual community in the cultural advantages it offers," he said, and it has been "blessed with top-notch government at the local level."

Chamber President Richard Van Sistine presided at the luncheon, an annual event during teacher orientation week. Don Haynes is chairman of the chamber's industrial division, which sponsored the program, and Clarence Schultz was chairman of the welcome program itself.

Miss Viola Pelzer, principal of Richmond School, was chairman of the Appleton Education Association's orientation committee.

About 230 persons attended the luncheon, including the new teachers, special guests and chamber hosts. Guests included Roy Whitney, vice president of the Board of Education; Kenneth Johnston, president of the Appleton Education Association; Brother Peter, Xavier High School director, who gave the invocation, and Appleton Supt. of Schools William Spears.

2 Injured When Auto Rams Into Parked Car

Charles Howard, 53, 1505 N. Bennett St., and Adrian Johnson, 63, 404 N. Appleton St., were injured when the car they were in collided with a parked car Monday in the 700 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue.

Edward, the driver, complained of chest injuries. Johnson, his passenger, received a broken arm. Both are in St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Police said the Howard car struck a parked car owned by Charles Redenz, 618 N. Center St. Howard said he was forced into the car by another motorist. The parked car was pushed 25 feet after impact.

member national election. President Johnson, Reynolds said, probably would lose some southern states and states in the Rocky Mountain region.

It would be the Midwest, Reynolds said, that will be "the great battleground" of this election, and it would be Outagamie County Democrats who would have to work to help President Johnson carry this state.

No Democrat has carried Wisconsin since 1948, he said. He knew it was "not an easy job in this state" for Democrats, but it was on the local level which the work must be done.

He pointed to County Sheriff Calvin Spice as an example "that a Democrat can win in Outagamie County."

He commended county office candidates for entering the contest. He said it was from the courthouse state and national leaders eventually would come.

Reynolds was introduced by Bayargeon as "one of our sons who has truly written history and will continue to write it."

Reynolds was scheduled to make stops throughout lower Winnebago and upper Fond du Lac counties today and return to Madison tonight to celebrate his wife's birthday.

Three to Be Charged With Theft of Auto From Seymour Man

Three men charged as escapees from the Green Bay Reformatory will be charged in Outagamie County with theft of an automobile.

The car was stolen two weeks ago from Winfred Schmidt, route 2, Seymour, when the escapees allegedly took the car, and drove it to Stevens Point where they were captured.

Named in the warrant will be Leo Rausch, 24, Donald J. Haessley, 25, and Leland A. Slater, 30.

Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke, said the men admitted taking a green tarpaulin from the Schmidt car and using it to hide under as they lay in a corn field near Seymour while making their escape.

Loss of Innocence

The riots in Saigon, the bloody battles between Buddhists and Roman Catholics, the wavering of the present government, and the apparent lack of interest among those involved to be bothered about resisting the Communist Viet Cong, is one more blow to the American dream of freedom and justice for all. But we have weathered a lot of such blows.

We always lose our innocence the hard way. It took some time for us to concede that Saudi Arabia, for instance, was a dictatorship of the old royal variety because we were annoyed at Nasser. Saudi Arabia opposed Nasser and therefore should be a democracy. But instead there still is the evidence of slavery, the unimaginable grandeur of the wealthy, and the appalling misery of the rest of the people. And the misery bothers the royal sheiks only when it threatens to boil over into open revolt.

Since American newsmen have been allowed into Cuba, we have been surprised to discover that a lot of Cubans like Fidel because they are the ones who never had it so good no matter what is happening to the overall economy. And we are repeatedly shocked to find out that many Latin Americans have not going to do anything for the Have Nots that is not required. Moreover, a lot of the Have Nots will be supremely contented just to become Haves themselves at the expense of anybody.

In Southeast Asia, we conceded that the Laotians were a poor risk to oppose the invaders from the north because, we said, they were a mild, contented people, emotionally unprepared for battle. But their close relatives in Viet Nam, we decided, were of a sufficiently warlike nature to deserve our assistance. Then we were horrified to discover that the late President Diem didn't always act like Abraham Lincoln. We still don't know why various Buddhists and other dissenters have burned themselves up.

The myth of American omnipotence, as D. H. Brogan wrote some time ago, is hard to dispel. We just can't believe that our influence in the rest of the world is not the determining factor in everything. And our political aspirants contribute to the illusion by blaming failures all over the world upon whatever administration is in power in Washington.

And after all that, we still must accept the responsibility because we do know that the expansion of freedom and justice as well as a decent way of living devolves upon those people who believe in them.

What we must come to accept more and more is the long view of history. Our own form of government is the best so far conceived by mankind, at least as far as we are concerned. But it may not be the best at all times for all peoples. The budding states with scarce backgrounds of education apparently do need a firmer hand. Some people may be emotionally unable to bear the heavy responsibility of free elections every few years. More socialism seems to work among some people with placid natures. The underdeveloped countries are full of people behind us not only in standards of living but in understandings of the responsibility that has to come with individual freedom.

We misunderstood the people, the pressures, perhaps the very nature of the conflict in Viet Nam. But in the long view of history, we are ahead of the Communists. We can afford to acknowledge that other people may have some of the answers for themselves that we don't have; the Communists must continue to insist that communism alone is the future and so every denial of communism is a drastic defeat.

There are all sorts of conflicts going on in the world and many of them do not involve communism at all except that the Reds are always waiting in the wings to pick up the pieces. Such struggles are going to continue. Our biggest problem is not so much whether we should become involved but how we must become involved. When to grant aid, when to send troops or to threaten to send troops, when to sell food or give it away, what sort of educational assistance to offer, what sort of strings to tie to our involvement; these are the decisions to be made.

In this election year, by the campaign speeches so far, it is clear that both President Johnson and Sen. Goldwater acknowledge this. We have lost our international innocence, but we are gaining what may be glimpses of wisdom.

The 1,000th Traffic Fatality

Who will be the 1,000th state traffic fatality?

That's the grim question in the back of minds of state and local highway enforcement personnel as they go about their daily task of moving traffic across the state's roads.

It should be a super-sensational, ultra-colossal and possibly a near-Herculean tragedy to report. The news should be screamed in banner-style headlines across every newspaper in the state.

Pictures should be taken and important figures asked for comments.

There should be a series of analytical articles discussing the situation and some local groups should come forward with offers of aid for the stricken state.

There should be "human interest" in the families that were left behind. There should be provisions made by street corner speechmakers who urge that "this terrible thing should never occur again in any lifetime."

It should be a "black" day in the state. Schools should close to allow observance. Banks and public buildings should allow their employees to go home. Silence should be the order of the day.

On the day the 1,000th traffic victim is named, a state legislator should move to have the day placed in "red" on calendars.

On that day, the entire State of Wisconsin should ponder the needless waste of lives on roadways. It should be a day the entire code of law enforcement be re-examined and consideration for stronger, more forceful laws be introduced.

It should be a day when parents seriously ask themselves how well they know their children—the ones to whom they have entrusted the family automobile.

They should ask themselves how good an example they've set for their youngsters.

Something may happen this year that the 1,000th victim will not be named. Somewhere a lot of people may get smart and start driving like decent citizens who are anxious to live a full life.

Maybe, if this happens, Wisconsin will not name a 1,000th victim this year and we can relax.

But, then of course, there's always next year.

Do Menominees Have Labor Skills?

The plight of the Menominee County Indians at the moment appears incapable of solution without large doses of government financial aid over a considerable period of time. But there are some developments on other Indian reservations still under government supervision which should be taken into account in future planning affecting Menominee County.

A growing number of Indian tribes have been quite successful in attracting new industry to their reservations. In some cases the tribes were fortunate enough to realize large profits from the discovery of minerals on their lands, and with these some tribes have put up plants for new industries. The Laguna tribe in New Mexico built a $450,000 factory which it leases to an electronics facility. The Navajos built their own $8.5 million sawmill and established an industrial park where Kaiser Aluminum now is building. The Cherokee tribe spent $750,000 to set up a tourist lodge and recreation facilities on its North Carolina reservation.

Obviously the Menominees do not have proceeds from uranium or oil discoveries to invest in new industries. But some industry is going to reservations at its own expense. Manufacturers are discovering a largely untapped source of labor among the Indians. Moreover, in a time of shortage of skilled workers, they find they can quickly teach intricate skills to Indians whose natural patience and dexterity have made them famous as artisans.

Incidentally the unemployment rate among Indians nationally runs close to 50 per cent, versus the more publicized Negro rate of about 10 per cent.

It has become obvious that the Menominee tribe's lumbering and sawmill operations are far from sufficient to sustain the economy of Menominee County. There is some potential in tourist business development but this will never provide much employment. The untapped labor skills of the Menominee people could turn out to be the tribe's most valuable resource.

Democratic Convention in 1864

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 3, 1864.

Chicago—The Appleton delegation arrived here on Saturday morning, and with the Wisconsin men generally, make their headquarters at the Revere House. Nearly all the Democratic notables of the State and nation are in the city.

Saturday night witnessed a grand ovation to Democracy such as the North-West has never yet witnessed. Full 60,000 Democrats met in council. Not a solitary disturbance marred the enthusiasm of the occasion.

The admirable police regulations established by Mayor Sherman and Long John Wentworth guarantee peace and quietness, although there has been an effort to create trouble by some Lincolnites.

The 24th Ohio Battery, with six heavy pieces passed up State Street this morning in the direction of the "Temple of Liberty!"

It is said that an effort to liberate the prisoners at Camp Douglas is to be made to-night! I think, myself, after a general commingling with the immense throng from abroad that nothing would be received with greater disfavor than such a step. If the crazy headed fanatics undertake to meddle with the Convention, you may look for desperate deeds. The Democracy

Supreme Court in Trouble Over Decision in Reapportionment

BY MAX FREEDMAN

WASHINGTON — The uproar in Congress over reapportionment is the visible and dramatic proof that the minority on the Supreme Court was right in its forebodings that serious problems would be created by the court's decision.

Freedman

With unavailing logic and legal scholarship, Justice Frankfurter (now retired) and Justice Harlan led the opposition on the court to the judicial settlement of these reapportionment problems. For them the basic decision was taken when the court first accepted jurisdiction of these political problems. They foresaw the new problems that would arise once the court began to work in these political thickets.

Other members of the court, and large sections of public opinion, began to see the wisdom of these forebodings when a majority of the justices later ruled that both branches of a state legislature must have their membership determined by population.

Yet this ruling already lurked by implication in the first

25 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Aug. 29, 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Latimer, Appleton, entertained for their son Richard Charles on his birthday anniversary. The young guests were Billy Myse, Sharon Lee Arndt, Donna Mae and Sandra Christen, Serge Roberts, Bernice Dedecker, Tommy and Joan Mader.

Ninety graduates of Appleton High School Band gathered for a reunion dinner-dance at the Riverview Country Club. Co-chairmen were the Misses Betty Brown and Kathryn Peterson.

Boy Scouts of Flaming Arrow Patrol No. 5, Appleton, were camping at the troop's cabin. In charge of the group were Martin Brock and Delmar Schwallier. Scouts included Merlin Dunsirn, David Jacobs, Eugene Sewall, Eugene Schwallier, Richard Schwallier, Thomas Wolfe and Norman Hardt.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Aug. 31, 1954.

Roger Wenzel, Hilbert, was chosen vice chairman for the 1955 conference of International Farm Youth Exchange Alumni at the group's final meeting at Manhattan, Kan.

Two hundred persons attended the eighth annual Uhlenbrauck family reunion at Alicia Park, Appleton. Officers elected were: Harvey Schroeder, Appleton, president; Marvin Uhlenbrauck, Black Creek, vice president; Mrs. Clarence Nelson, Seymour, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Norman Schuette, New Holstein, historian.

Miss Virginia Smudde, Kaukauna, was named Miss Nittigale of 1954. She was chosen from among 12 Fox Cities girls by judges from Neenah and Menasha and was crowned at the ballroom by the previous year's titlist, Mrs. Dolores Vandehey. Miss Joan Fischer, Black Creek, was runner-up.

decision, and that is one reason among many others why Justices Frankfurter and Harlan wanted the Supreme Court to shun this whole reapportionment business. Their wisdom has been confirmed long after it can do the Supreme Court very much good.

Unlike the segregation decision, the reapportionment decision should have been very popular. It did not strike at the customs and traditions of the Southern states, as did the segregation rulings, and it appealed to the cities where most Americans now live. The decision seemed designed to satisfy the voters in the cities and to affront and displease only the politicians who benefited from the unfair representation of rural areas in the state legislature and Senate.

But things did not work out that way. Even among those who most vigorously condemned the evils and inequities of the current system of representation, there was a delayed awakening to the disadvantages of having the Supreme Court try to settle these complicated political problems. The doubts grew when practical difficulties emerged in various states as they moved, sometimes under federal court orders, to reapportion their legislative districts.

Believed in Decision

Lest there be any misunderstanding, it should be emphasized that the Supreme Court in making its rulings has nothing to do, now or ever, with questions of popularity or unpopularity. The majority who sided with Chief Justice Warren believed, beyond question, that they were serving the democratic process, just as Justices Frankfurter and Harlan were convinced that the majority were outraging the principles of federalism in a democracy.

Unfortunately, the Supreme Court's decision cannot be judged on its merits in Congress. Many members have ties with state and local organizations which derive their ultimate power from rural areas. In addition, the Supreme Court has made many critics for itself in Congress by its decisions in the last ten years. Some members resent its decisions in security cases and in cases involving Communists. Other members resent its rulings on compulsory prayers in public schools. Still others resent the Supreme Court's rebuke of congressional investigating committees. And towering over all, and poisoning all, is the vast discontent with the segregation decisions.

Disturbing Development

These grievances combined in the House of Representatives to win a majority for the proposal to withdraw reapportionment questions from the federal courts. The proposal has small chance of becoming the law. It was intended as a hostile demonstration against the Supreme Court, and that is why it gained so much support. This must be regarded as a deeply disturbing development by all who respect the Supreme Court and the division of powers which sustains our federal system.

It has been said on high authority that the much maligned proposal of Sen. Dirksen, calling for a delay of less than two years in carrying out the court's orders on reapportionment, deserves support because it will buy time for prejudices to cool and will bring the authority of Congress behind the court's rulings.

This argument is unsatisfactory and unpersuasive. It is in reality proposing a referendum on the Supreme Court's decision, and a referendum whose outcome will be determined by the legislatures which now have the lopsided representation. Sen. Dirksen's timetable will not provide a breather for reflection and responsible action. It is more likely to provide an incentive for states to hurry up with their adoption of a constitutional amendment to protect their senators from representation by population.

This amounts to the nullification of a judicial decision by political action. It is hard to conceive of a more dangerous precedent, for politicians who have once tasted blood in a successful attack on the Supreme Court will be inclined to overturn other decisions.

The mistakes made by the Supreme Court on reapportionment do not justify the still greater mistake already made in the House and the urgent mistake now possible in the Senate.

Rural Areas in Need Of Health Programs Meeting New Trends

BY MILO K. SWANTON

MADISON—As a boy I was told that country life was the most healthful. On the farm we enjoyed the freshest of foods and air. Water came directly from the well, not "through miles of pipelines." We were told that cities were crowded places, where vermin, foul air and contagion abounded.

Farm living then was a system of semi-sufficiency. We made our own soap, picked our own seed corn, set our own hens, had our own windmill power and kept our own herd sire. Since that time trends have changed both the facts and the fancies. The high. Every dairy farm has an approved milk house. Dairy barns must pass stiff requirements. Sewage and sanitation must hold to rigid requirements. Bovine TB has been cut almost to the vanishing point, and Brucellosis is on its way out. Farmers have contributed immeasurably to improved public health.

However, in certain other phases of public health, semi-rural and particularly suburban areas have not measured up to the challenge of change. Town and village health officers are generally without professional training. Too many county health departments are still struggling for needed stature. The growing pains of today's expanding suburbia are inflicting real problems upon farms and rural communities.

ACTION NEEDED

There is need for tighter control over water supplies and sewage disposal in suburbia, which in the last decade has been rapidly expanding into rural communities. It is ironic for any dairymen living up to Grade A standards to see all around him inadequate suburban septic tanks and clogged dry wells overflowing.

Another important population trend affecting rural areas is growing mobility, particularly with respect to the tourist-vacation industry. A Wisconsin study reveals that within a 12-month period, 3,689,000 non-residents spent one or more nights in our state on recreation jaunts, and 2,230,000 Wisconsin people spent one or more nights away from home on trips within the state. Are the villages, towns, and open country equipped to cope with the health requirements of this highly mobile vacationbound population?

How sanitary are the water and sewage facilities of mushrooming camp sites, cottages and temporary "recreational villages"? Every county has a well-staffed, well-financed highway department. Why not an equally effective health department? In proportion to population, rural counties have greatest need for public health nurses in realistic ratio to population, and at least one sanitarian. Grouping of counties to provide these services should be considered. Modern trends are bringing significant rural health challenges to Wisconsin.

One of the best known voices of Wisconsin agriculture, guest columnist Milo Swanton is the retiring manager of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture.

THE MISSING DOCTOR

But today the country doctor, like the soap kettle, has become a figure of history. At the close of World War II only 1 per cent of the medical officers indicated an intention to set up practice in communities under 2,500 population. Among dental officers, the poll showed only 9.6 were planning to serve communities under 5,000 people. To make the situation worse, the wives of these practitioners objected to living in small towns or in rural centers.

Off-Used Quotations Suffer From Changes

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Pride goeth before a fall," murmured the man at my side, as we watched a couple of experts being badly whipped in a bridge tournament.

I nodded in agreement, but wondered (as I have many times before) why most quotations are so persistently misquoted, when the original is just as simple to give, and often makes more sense.

The Bible says "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall," but almost nobody else says so. Why should the distortion be popular, and the correct wording abandoned in limbo? We are told, in the same widely read book, that we shall eat bread in the sweat of our face—which everyone changes to "brow" for reasons too obscure to fathom.

Shakespeare Changed
Shakespeare has suffered as many sea-changes as the Bible. The most famous distortion occurs with a line from "King John," where he tells us it is a ridiculous excess "To gild refined gold, to paint the lily."

Yet, everyone turns it into

"gild the lily"—which is not only a change in word, but a change in sense: for Shakespeare meant it is silly to paint the lily even whiter than it is, just as it is silly to put gilt on gold.

In mimicking Hamlet's graveyard scene, 99 persons out of 100 will declaim: "Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him well," instead of "I knew him, Horatio." How did "well" happen to creep into the phrase?

Likewise, in "As You Like It," the jester, Touchstone, speaks of his bovine country maid as "An ill-favored thing, sir, but mine own." Even writers, who should know better, insist on changing it to "a poor thing, but mine own."

In "The Merchant of Venice," one of the characters makes the now-classic comment that "The devil can cite Scripture for his purpose." This phrase is used all the time—and "cite" is always changed to "quote."

No particular harm is done by these misquotations, and only a pedant would seriously object to them. Yet, they illustrate not only how the words of the past are perverted by time but also how errors often become more firmly bedded than truth in the general mind. The devil may cite Scripture, but few of us really quote Shakespeare.

Administration Hurt In Two Major Areas

Chance at Polls Endangered by Northern Riots, Viet Nam Chaos

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two events over which he has no control are piling up on President Johnson and may hurt him in this campaign: Negro riots in northern cities and the developing chaos in South Viet Nam.

As the docility of the recent Democratic convention demonstrated, Johnson is a master arranger who pays fastidious attention to details to make events turn out as he wants.

But the racial outbreaks here and the Buddhist-Catholic student riots in South Viet Nam are beyond his reach. He can't turn the water on or off in either case.

Negro Violence

Even the reasons for the Negro violence and looting in seven different towns and cities in the past are not clear. They burst after minor episodes, like an argument over a bottle of whisky.

This hardly seemed an excuse for what followed.

Perhaps they were truly and purely spontaneous reactions to the accumulated pressures from the frightful living conditions of the Negro in some sections of American cities.

Perhaps the reasons, since no one yet can claim to know the full truth of them, were more sinister. There is the possibility the Negro disorders were instigated by individuals and forces not yet discovered.

Riots Planned

Over the weekend Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, suggested the Negro riots may have been planned. He asked for a federal investigation.

If they were planned, then there will probably be more and similar outbreaks elsewhere in the North before the November election.

It is not hard to imagine in such a case the climax might be reached with a riot in the capital city of Washington not long before Election Day.

Johnson's support of this year's Civil Rights Act already had alienated segregationists. Negro riots may cost him more votes among whites who are disturbed by the violence for one reason or another.

South Viet Nam

In South Viet Nam Johnson inherited a problem which puzzled Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy before him: How to establish stability in this southeast corner of Asia while working to defeat the North Vietnamese Communists' attempt to take it over by force.

After years of effort, billions of dollars in aid, and loss of more than 200 American lives, the situation there is worse right now than it has ever been. The country seems to be disintegrating.

It has now had three governments in less than a year.

Last Nov. 1 President Ngo Dinh Diem, the dictatorial Catholic president who suppressed the Buddhists' demonstrations, was killed in a military coup which set up a new government of generals.

Another Coup

On Jan. 30 of this year Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh pulled another coup, threw out the junta, and set himself up as boss.

He talked, he walked, he traveled, he pronounced. He gave the impression things were looking up. But, despite all this and the stepped-up American help, the Communists steadily gained ground.

Khanh sought a solution but produced an explosion. To tighten his grip last month he imposed emergency controls, made himself president, and announced a new constitution. Students rioted. Buddhists and Catholics killed one another.

Khanh faded out of the picture, if only temporarily. A new man, Dr. Nguyen Xuan Oanh, took over as acting premier. At this moment what will happen is anyone's guess.

If South Viet Nam falls apart much further, Johnson will have to decide whether to pull American troops into direct action against the Communists; or seek some kind of negotiated settlement.

Three Moves

Not one of the three moves is likely to help Johnson in the Benefit Group Urges Check Of Earnings

How long has it been since you checked your social security account? How often have you checked your account?

The Social Security Administration has on record 140 million individual accounts. It is the largest bookkeeping system in the world. In order to properly credit each account with the proper earnings, the very latest in automatic data processing and electronic computer equipment is used.

The actual reports of earnings come from employers quarterly and the self-employed once a year.

76 Million Items

Each quarter the Social Security Administration receives over 76 million wage items to record. With this volume errors can occur. Perhaps the employer forgot to list an employee's social security number on his report, interchanged some of the digits in the number, or perhaps misspelled the name. Any of these errors could result in the earnings not being credited to the proper account.

The Social Security Administration is able to correctly credit the earnings in the vast majority of cases where errors are made. In some cases, they must recontact the employer for additional information. In a small percentage of cases, the error is not reconciled.

For this reason, the Social Security Administration advises that you check your social security account at least once every three years. To do this you secure the post card form OAR-7004 from the local social security office. Complete this form and drop it in the mail. In approximately three weeks you will receive a statement of your account that shows all the earnings credited to you since 1937.

If on the basis of this accounting you notice an error in the record, contact your local social security office immediately. Local inquiries can be made to the Social Security Administration, 401 S. Elm St., Appleton, Wis.

Porphyrria Uncommon Hereditary Ailment

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss porphyria. My grandson has it. Different doctors claim they don't know too much about it as it is practically a new disease.

MRS. G. H. Well, perhaps not exactly "new." It was first recognized about 40 years ago. It is not common and it is not simple to treat.

There are certain pigments (coloring matter) in the system called porphyrin. If there is some disorder in how the body metabolizes—or handles—these pigments, we call it porphyria. It appears to be hereditary.

Commonest is the acute, intermittent type. There are episodes of severe pain which may be in the abdomen or in the extremities; the patient feels weak and there may even be some paralysis. Occasionally there may be mental disturbance. One of the visible signs is that the urine becomes red.

There is no known cure. The individual has a peculiar response to materials occurring naturally in the body.

Treatment Aim
The treatment, therefore, is aimed at relieving the pain, and at avoiding conditions which can touch off further attacks.

For relief, tranquilizers (but not barbiturates) and occasionally steroids (cortisone-type) drugs are used.

Barbiturates are known to be a factor in precipitating attacks. Sulfa drugs also should be avoided for the same reason. Both of the drugs should not be used by a person who has had an attack, or might be subject to the disease because a parent is known to have had it.

In addition, heavy-metal poisoning (arsenic, lead and some less common ones) can touch off attacks.

ected, direct exposure to sunlight should be avoided.

Although porphyria fortunately is not common, it is a malady that should be suspected when the patient's symptoms are obscure pain and weakness which cannot be explained otherwise.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 15-year-old daughter is allergic to wheat, corn, rye, barley, oatmeal and white potatoes. Can you suggest any substitutes in the line of dry cereals or breads?

MRS. R. L.

That includes almost all of the popular cereals. The one you did not list may turn out to be helpful—rice, which is available in breakfast food form, can be served cooked, and can be used in bread. Some bakeries will make bread from rice flour by special arrangement, or you could do it yourself. You also might try gluten-free bread. Still another possibility would be soy bean products.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had a stroke a year ago and was unable to walk. Now I can walk again, but unsteadily. I wobble and lack co-ordination. How long will this last? Can you give me any leads?

E. P.

No, not very specifically, although your ability to walk indicates progress. Perhaps a support—a cane, or even a brace on your leg—would help steady your gait. If you are receiving physiotherapy, or have been to rehabilitation institute, the therapist can give you a better estimate than I can.

Note to C. C. S.: Plastic surgeons as well as many dermatologists can minimize the scarring resulting from teen-age skin blemishes. "Skin-planing" of various types is the principal method. It cannot remove the deeper pitting, but otherwise is very successful.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "How to Tame Headaches. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Jingo Scans Calendar Of Month's Events

September Is Month Set Aside for Youth, Pancakes and Other Essentials

BY JINGO

A new month has slugged through the crowded events of its predecessor to arrive on time as new months have the habit of doing.

In many ways this month, September, has certain important overtones. It is a new beginning after the theoretically refreshing summer months. It is the beginning of the harvest of nature's bounty and good husbandry's hard work. And it is the beginning of a new school year.

All of these are well recognized, repeating phenomena; but in this age of advertising each month has its own peculiar — and you can read into that word anything you'd like — importance for sundry people.

In this light September is Youth Month, Child Foot Month, Frozen Food Buy-Time, Home Quiet Month, Home Sweet Month, Measure Your Mattress Month, National Better Breakfast Month, National Flapjack Month, National Pancake Month, Protein Bread Sales Month, Fall Clean-Up Time and American Home Lighting Fixture Month.

This information is gleaned from the authoritative Chase's Calendar of Annual Events and Jingo is happy to pass the information on to you.

All kinds of promotions evolve out of these "annual events" and Hollywood is taking advantage of other people's ideas along these lines. The film moguls have been brightening Jingo's mornings with their usurped ideas in the form of photographs of stars depicting the day, week or month. Since immature eyes are said to scan these columns, the photos can not be put to the use Hollywood would have them; but it is interesting to see how the moguls have the scantily clad Martha Hyer come out to promote Cherokee Strip (Sept. 16) and the curvaceous Joey Heatherton remind us to "Measure Your Mattress." The fact that September is Fall Clean-up Time must have passed unnoticed in Hollywood.

Jingo had his say about the TV coverage of the Republican convention. To indicate that he isn't the only ungrateful viewer, the following is excerpted from a column of a colleague of Jingo's from Davenport, Ron Lorenzen.

The sights and sounds that emerged from Atlantic City this week bore out the conclusion most viewers reaches after experiencing the sights and sounds which emerged from San Francisco last month, i.e. there must be better ways for electronic coverage of political conventions than those now in force.

Actually, although the three networks went all out, none of them covered the conventions completely.

What they covered were mostly the floor shows put on by their own correspondents.

What viewers saw of the convention proceedings were only the segments the men in the control booths decided they should see.

When the proceedings were

Blue-Gray War Buffs Given Show

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 4-5)—Project 20 solves the problem of pleasing Civil War admirers of the North and South by presenting two half-hour portraits of heroes of that excursion back to back—"Lee, the Virginian" and "U. S. Grant, an Improbable Hero." Repeat.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Any teen-agers contemplating not returning to school this fall are advised to watch Mr. Novak's powerful look at a dropout a few years later. Repeat.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11)—"The Bridges at Chalons" on Combat is reminiscent of "The Bridge on the River Kwai" and contains some of that movie's great suspense. Repeat.

7-8 (Channel 2)—Lowell Thomas, a man who never gets too blasé about the world on High Adventure, heads an expedition into New Guinea's interior hoping to run into some Stone-Age head-hunters and cannibals. Repeat.

7:30-8 (Channel 4-5)—On Moment of Fear, Kim Hunter plays a housewife accused of slaying, of all people, a vacuum cleaner salesman. Repeat.

7:30-8 (Channel 11)—Can you imagine anybody throwing Ernest Borgnine into jail and getting away with it? On McHale's Navy this is what happens when he runs into Big Frenchy (George Kennedy), an old peacetime buddy with a grudge. Repeat.

8-9 (Channel 11)—The Greatest Show on Earth repeats its premiere show which has Broadway actor Harry Guardino playing a lame, once-great lion tamer and old pal of Jack Palance. (Color) Repeat.

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—"A Need of Valor," on The Richard Boone Show has a colorful, timely background, but viewers not versed in military tactics and upper echelon politics may be a bit confused by the story. Boone plays a general whose son is murdered in one of those South-east Asian trouble spots. He doesn't trust the country's ruler (Ford Rainey), but can't act against U.S. government orders. Repeat.

9-10 (Channel 11)—"Storm Center" on The Fugitive is a beautifully acted drama set against a background of a Florida hurricane. Bethel Leslie and David Janssen carry 90 per cent of the episode. She is a woman who knew Janssen as Dr. Kimble. Repeat.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Nut House takes an off-beat, and hopefully satirical look at the world. A revue, employing young talent and original Jay Ward cartoons, it's headed by Kathy Kersh, a former beauty queen, who now has the dubious title of "Nut House Squirrel Girl."

Unhappy Spouse Shoots Up Town

COOLIN, Idaho (AP) — This sleepy north Idaho resort town was shot up Monday afternoon by a young man who said he was disgruntled over the breakup of his marriage.

Robert E. Tucker, 25, Spokane, Wash., finally was subdued by four officers after a wild two hours during which he marched the father of his estranged wife down Main Street at gunpoint and exchanged shots with a resort owner.

Postmaster James M. Roberts, Tucker's father-in-law, said Tucker came into the post office and ordered him out at gunpoint.

"He said he was going to kill everyone in town after his killed me," Roberts said.

Tucker shot up a store where terrified residents were trying to hide. No one was injured but the fusillade shattered windows and glass counters.

Lou Streyfeller, owner of a resort lodge, grabbed his revolver and shot out the tires on Tucker's car.

"My revolver was no match for the rifle so I went back into the house and got my rifle," said Streyfeller. "We exchanged two shots without hitting each other."

Officers arrived shortly after and arrested Tucker.

Reynolds Says Tax Increase Made Enemies

Identifies Himself With Johnson as He Tours Outagamie

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, who is campaigning for re-election, said Monday night that he has made enemies because taxes increased during his administration.

He said, as he toured Outagamie County, that he faces the additional problem of Republican efforts to depict him as an inept public official.

Johnson Supporter Reynolds seldom spoke of the sales tax, but in citing reasons for higher state spending called attention to a $113 million building program he said he had urged and declared the need continues for more educational welfare buildings.

Reynolds identified himself as a supporter of President Johnson and challenged Warren Knowles, the endorsed Republican candidate for governor, to support Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee.

In Milwaukee, Knowles and Dominic Frinzi, who opposes Reynolds for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, indicated they would accept the offer of a television station (WISN-TV) for three debates of one-half hour each if they are nominated.

An aide said Reynolds had not seen the letter proposing the debates and would not comment until he had. Milo Knutson of La Crosse, who also seeks the GOP nomination for governor, could not be reached for comment.

Arlyn F. Wollenburg, seeking the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination said Monday the Johnson administration "poverty bill is only half the answer to the poverty situation facing the nation."

Informal Campaign He said in informal campaigning in Milwaukee that the real answer was "an adequate minimum wage for the lower one-third of the nation's workers." He has urged a $2 hourly minimum wage.

Wollenburg also urged a federal tax break for low and moderate income groups, adequate social security and medical services.

Rep. Henry Schadeberg, R-Wis., said Monday he had heard reports that many Republicans in the 1st District were going to vote in the Democratic column in the Sept. 8 primary and support "the weaker of the two candidates for Congress."

"I must warn that I do not believe there is any such thing as a weak opponent," Schadeberg said in a statement. He also said crossover voting "is not in keeping with my philosophy."

Heart Spasm Hits Traffic Commissioner

NEW YORK (AP) — Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes, after suffering a heart spasm, told newsmen, "I'm lying at death's door and they're trying to pull me through, but don't say which way."

Barnes, 57, was stricken Monday following dedication ceremonies for a new police academy. He had suffered a similar heart spasm eight days ago and a heart attack last October.

A hospital spokesman said Barnes was resting comfortably.

Over 72,000 Mishaps Occur In Wisconsin During Past Year

MADISON — Wisconsin's 72,056 traffic accidents in 1963 are studied in numerous tables of data in a new 32-page booklet just released by the State Motor Vehicle Department.

"Information was taken from officer-investigated reports, not drivers' versions of what happened," said Commissioner James L. Karns. "Therefore the data available now is more complete and accurate than previously."

Reports on 72,056 accidents were studied. Injuries were suffered by 36,380 persons, death came to 905 citizens, and the economic cost of all mishaps is estimated to be $163,000,000.

Of 47,663 property damage accidents, 75.5 per cent involved one vehicle colliding with another, with a second vehicle either in motion or parked. Of 23,620 injury-producing mishaps, 56.1 per cent were two-vehicle collisions; and of 773 death-dealing crackups, 38.5 per cent were two-vehicle collisions. Multiple injuries or deaths were counted in some accidents.

144 Walkers Died Records show 144 pedestrians died last year in the state, 609 suffering major injuries and 1,719 with minor injuries. Sixty-four pedestrian fatalities were counted on rural roads, 80 on city streets.

Walkers killed included 92 males, 52 females. On-foot victims included 37 under age 14 and 45 over 65. Eighty-six pedestrians died in dusk or dark accidents, 52 in daylight mishaps.

Worst hour for fatal accidents last year was from 1 to 2 p.m., when 71 death-producing accidents occurred, or 9.2 per cent of the total.

Worst hour for other mishaps was from 4 to 5 p.m., when 2,034 injury-resulting accidents (or 8.6 per cent) occurred, and when 4,053 property damage accidents (or 8.5 per cent) occurred, according to studies by the planning and records section, enforcement division of the motor vehicle department.

Weekends Hazardous Forty-two per cent of all fatal accidents took place on either Saturday or Sunday. Saturday proved the worst day for injury and property damage accidents.

Eight out of 10 drivers involved in all accidents last year were male. The 19-year-olds proved most dangerous to themselves and to others, just a percentage point ahead of 18-year-olds.

In a long list of possible contributing circumstances, the leading factors were failure to yield right of way, speed too fast for conditions, inattentive driving, improper lookout, had been drinking, following too closely, and drove off center.

HEMORRHOIDS?

New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!

In clinical tests of new M.P.O. — an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids (piles) — doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients! M.P.O. works five ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:
1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephed-rine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.

3. Relieves embarrassing itch. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.
M.P.O. is a development of Menthohatam Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

Revised Plan In Senate on Health Care

also would liberalize the earnings test so that persons receiving Social Security could make more money and still not lose their benefits.

The revisions worked out in the administration package would change the 5 per cent boost in benefits of the House bill to a 7 per cent increase, raise the wage base to $5,600 instead of $5,400 as in the House bill, and cut the nursing home care under the King-Anderson plan from 180 days to 60 days.

King-Anderson supporters charged that Long's proposal would kill chances of a health care plan by using up revenues needed to finance it.

Higher Taxes

They pointed out that if Long's more generous cash benefits schedule were adopted, it would force Social Security taxes eventually up to 10 per cent. It would be difficult and perhaps impossible to vote higher levies on top of this to finance health costs, they argued.

About 18 million persons over 65 would be eligible immediately for the benefits of the plan if it were written into law.

Under present law, the eventual maximum Social Security tax is 4.625 per cent each for employer and employee, on a $4,800 wage base.

Under the House bill, the rate ceiling would be 4.8 per cent each, on a $5,400 base.

Under the Long amendment, it would be 5 per cent each on a $5,400 base. Under the new Gore amendment, it would be 5.2 per cent each on a $5,600 base.

Justice Bureau Finds No Estes Gift to Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says it has investigated and found to be "without any foundation in fact" an allegation that Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., accepted $50,000 from Billie Sol Estes four years ago.

The department said Monday it is closing its books on the matter. Gordon McLendon, who lost to Yarborough May 2 in Texas' Democratic Senate primary, charged "whitewash."

The allegation that Yarborough received money from Estes was made during the primary by Ernest Keeton, a former chauffeur for Estes. Appearing on a televised campaign program for McLendon, a Dallas radio executive and onetime baseball broadcaster, Keeton

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — An American digging a hole makes more friends than foreign aid, says the oldest couple in the Peace Corps after a 20-month assignment in the Peruvian slums.

Chester Wiggins, 67, a former construction engineer, and his wife Barbara, 65, a teacher, returned home Monday and are awaiting their Peace Corps discharge.

Their assignment was to help some of the poor people of Arequipa.

Made Friends

"We've made more friends than aid ever got," they said.

"We lived in a barriada, a squatter's settlement," added Wiggins. "There are about 57 barriadas in Arequipa and all 55 Peace Corps volunteers lived in them."

Their little room attracted the curious who came by each day to peer in and watch.

"I put a block outside the window so the kids could get a good look in," Wiggins said.

Governors, News Executives Meet

Forecasting of Election Results Under Discussion

NEW YORK (AP) — A committee of state governors who recently expressed concern about the forecasting of election results before polls are closed in some areas, met Monday with news media executives.

Nevada Gov. Grant Sawyer, chairman of the national Governors Conference, said after the all-day closed meeting:

"The broadcasting media share the concern of the nation's governors that premature declarations of election victories might influence the election results in those areas where the polls have not closed."

One proposal said to have been discussed was for a uniform poll-closing time nationally. This was to insure that Western voters would not be influenced by early returns reported from the East.

Sawyer said afterward, however, "there was general agreement that studies are inconclusive on whether or not the reporting of election results affects an elector's decision to vote."

A special committee will meet

Idaho's Cannon Before Voters For Re-Election

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Democratic Sen. Howard W. Cannon seeks renomination in the Nevada primary election today against charges by his opponents that he has not represented the state effectively in Washington.

His opponents also have tried to link Cannon, 52, of Las Vegas, unfavorably with Bobby Baker, the former Democratic Senate secretary whose financial affairs were investigated by the Senate.

Nevada voters also were choosing nominees for the state's only seat in the U.S. House, state legislative posts and a variety of local offices.

Secretary of State John Koonitz forecast a turnout of about 90,000, or approximately 61 per cent of the state's 146,368 registered voters, a primary record. The weather was expected to be unseasonably cool and rainy in much of the state.

LL Gov. Paul Laxalt, 42, personable and handsome Carson City attorney, was heavily favored to win the GOP Senate nomination.

He said he saw Estes give Yarborough an envelope containing the money on Nov. 6, 1960.

Poland Marks Anniversary Of Invasion

German's March Recalled Start Of World War II

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The 25th anniversary of Germany's invasion of Poland — the fateful start of World War II — is being recalled today in Poland with rallies, speeches and mourning.

Top Polish leaders are appearing at rallies in Warsaw and in Gdansk, the former free city of Danzig. It was in Danzig that the first shots sounded at 4:45 a.m. Sept. 1, 1939, when the German cruiser Schleswig-Holstein shelled Westerplatte, a tiny Polish enclave across the Bay of Danzig.

In West Germany, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard observed the anniversary by declaring that Germans want nothing more to do with war.

Radio Speech

In a radio speech Monday, Erhard said: "The Germans — of this I am certain — have learned from horrible experience and their whole longing is to achieve a true peace."

"We Germans will be specially reminded of the disaster of 1939, which was unleashed in our name by a brutal ruler. We must own up to this historical fact."

Anniversary rallies also were held Monday. The Polish Press Agency said the largest gathering was at Bytom, Upper Silesia, attended by 100,000 persons.

Edward Giersek, a member of the Polish Communist party's Politburo, told the rally: "We bow our heads to all our sisters and brothers who fell in the defense of this fatherland in that unequal fight."

Giersek said Poland's security now is guaranteed by the "material and defensive strength of the entire Socialist (Communist) camp, especially of the Soviet Union."

At dusk in Warsaw Monday night, a solemn roll call of soldiers who died in the early hours of the war was read at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier by Gen. Josef Dziadura, commander of the Warsaw garrison. After each name, drums beat a ly into the Republican edge in the state Senate.

Gov. George Romney is challenged on the GOP ticket by former state Sen. George Higgins, a Ferndale auto dealer who is a staunch backer of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

The GOP candidate will face Rep. Neil Staebler, who is unopposed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Three Republicans competed for the right to try to unseat Democratic incumbent Philip Hart, a first-term senator with no primary opposition.

They are Mrs. Elly Peterson, recently resigned as assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee; James O'Neill, a member of the State Board of Education, and Edward Meany Jr., a leather goods sales promotion manager.

In the congressional races, 17 incumbents are seeking nomination but at least two will be knocked out of the running.

Redistricting has pitted incumbent Democratic Reps. Lucien Nedzi and Harold Ryan against each other in the 14th District and Democrat John Dingell against John Lesinski in the 16th District.

WHITEFIELD, N.H. (AP) — Edward Allen Pierce, who entered the investment business as a $20-per-week clerk and now is the only surviving founder of the Wall Street brokerage house of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, celebrated his 90th birthday Monday by playing nine holes of golf.

Sgt. York Reported In 'Grave Condition' At Tennessee Hospital

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Doctors watching Sgt. Alvin York's latest battle with death reported early today the 76-year-old Medal of Honor winner remained in "very grave" condition.

Members of the family waited at the bedside of the hero of World War I, who doctors said was suffering from an acute urinary tract infection. York has been hospitalized 11 times in the past two years.

The old soldier, bedridden since 1954, killed 25 Germans and captured 132 others in the Argonne Forest in France in 1918.

Green Bay Man Killed in Wreck

FREEMAN, S.D. (AP) — Edward White, 75, of Green Bay, Wis., was killed Monday in a two-car collision at the intersection of two main highways near Freeman.

Authorities said he had been traveling east on Highway 44 and turned onto Highway 81 seconds before the crash.

Howard Ernst, 23, of Vermillion, S.D., driver of the second car, and three passengers received minor injuries.

He also advocated a bigger investment in crime fighting facilities.

Sisters Travel Valley Lakes, Rivers

A day that was pure fun was planned by Father Vanden Borne Council of the Knights of Columbus for the nuns who teach in Kimberly, Combined Locks and Little Chute. The 34 sisters, their Knights of Columbus escorts and the pilots of three boats met at Clark and Lund Street pier for a cruise that took them from the Fox River to Lake Buttes des Morts, to the Wolf River, Lake Winneconne, Lake Poygan and the Oshkosh Boat Club for dinner.

This is the fourth year the outing has been held, but some of the nuns are new to the villages and had never been on such big boats before. The splash of waves and the complicated instrument panels of the boats intrigued the fancy of the teachers and convent staffs, who learned ship lore and terms from stern to stern.

Boat owners are Phil Raddatz, Oshkosh, Frank Leisen, Menasha, and Joseph Van Daalwyk, Kaukauna. Accompanying the group were Grand Knight and Mrs. Paul Smits, Kimberly, Mr. and Mrs. James Locy, Kimberly, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jansen, Little Chute, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindberg, Kimberly, and Mrs. Eugene Hietpas, Kimberly, whose husband was chairman of the day's plans.

Three boats were used to take the school sisters and their escorts through the rivers and lakes of the Fox Valley Wednesday. Above, one of the boats swings away from the dock for the jaunt. At left, Sr. Mary Alan of St. John School, Little Chute, looks over the instrument panel as she takes the wheel. Below, the nuns enjoy the dinner at the Oshkosh Boat Club. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Sr. Margaret Ann and Sister Jose, Kimberly, learned about life preservers during their day-long cruise that began and ended at Oshkosh. The Sisters of St. John Catholic School, Little Chute, Holy Name of Jesus Catholic School, Kimberly, and St. Paul Catholic School, Combined Locks, were the guests of Father Vanden Borne Council of the Knights of Columbus for the day. Below, three of the sisters sit on deck chairs and carry on a spirited conversation as the boat left the dock.

New London Visitor

NEW LONDON—Mr. and Mrs. Max Everts, route 3, New London, had their daughter, Sister Mary Lorraine, as a weekend guest. Sister Lorraine, in the Order of Sisters of St. Francis of the Holy Cross, will resume teaching at All Saints School, Denmark, this month.

The Bodies of the poodles, below, are cut from terry cloth, with tail ears and legs cut and stuffed separately and attached to the body. Yarn is wound around a hairpin crocheted hook, stitched down the center, slipped off, doubled and stitched again. Sewed to the dog in a serpentine fashion, the fur adds reality. Button eyes and a fancy hat are added features.

Pet Parade Made Of Felt and Yarn

BY REBA AND BONNIE CHURCHILL

Ever thought of starting your own make-believe menagerie of cloth-covered canines and fuzzy-faced kittens? Such a "blue ribbon brigade" always keeps its best paw forward and its kennel club form when exhibited as pictures, appliques, pin cushions, bookends or table collections.

The fabric brood can be styled from a variety of materials, including flannel. For example, draw a cuddly kitten on a piece of muslin; then, back it with a similar length of flannel. Stretch the dual pieces on a wooden frame and use a punch needle to fill-in the animal outline. The wool yarn through the muslin underside, so the results are duplicated on the flannel topside. For a realistic look, insert several rows of shaded yarn.

When Mr. Whiskers is completed, comb wool with a teasing brush, so it has the "touch-me fluffiness" of fur. A suede brush can be substituted for similar results. Glass eyes and broomstick whiskers are final additions.

Yarn Fur For Poodle
Of course, if you're a dog fancier, there's nothing more heart-winning than a saucy-looking poodle. Cut in profile from twin thicknesses of material, the canine's head, neck and torso are snipped as one unit. The legs are separate. Each piece is stitched individually, filled with cotton stuffing, and assembled. Shoe button eyes, felt tongue and yarn fur are then added. The latter can be made by wrapping wool around a hairpin crocheted hook, stitching it down the center, then slipping it off the form, folding it lengthwise, and restitching. Immediately, a ruffled serpentine of fur emerges.

Naturally, such canine cutouts needn't be elaborate. An outline can be traced onto a square of felt, reinforced on the back with stiffening and then decorated with bead eyes, shoe-button nose and pom-pom fur.

For variety, try using an ice cream stick to make the fur. Place a piece of yarn lengthwise on the stick, then, without cutting, switch directions and loop wool widthwise around the wooden paddle. Circle the stick at least five times. Afterwards, tie the end to the sides away from the paddle. Presto! fuzzy ball trim and the beginning of a prize-winning breed.

'Wool' Sewing Contest Set For October

Oct. 10 has been announced as the date for the annual 'Make-It-Yourself With Wool' contest. It will include a style show and judging at 2 p.m. at Valley Fair shopping center.

The competition will include eight counties in District 11. Represented will be Marinette, Oconto, Menominee, Shawano, Kewaunee counties. Mrs. Paul Hietpas, 120 E. Lincoln Ave., is the district chairman.

New Division
A new division is planned for this year's event. To get the younger sewers started, a contest featuring a jumper or wool skirt is scheduled for 10 to 13-year-olds. Only Junior and Senior Division winners will go on to the state contest, to be held in Madison. The contestants will model their own clothes and be judged on workmanship, design and appearance and fashion. Many awards will be given entrants in the local contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Hietpas' twin daughters, Jacqueline and Jane, have been national entrants in recent years. Jacqueline competed in the national contest for

Your Problems

Ann Says Nothing Wrong With Doing Housework in Altogether

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a homemaker, age 30, have a good husband and three fine children. We are upper-middle class folks who live in an upper-middle class neighborhood and have upper-middle class friends.

When I'm in the house alone in the morning, after the children go off to school and my husband leaves for work, I like to do my housework with no clothes on. Yes, you read correctly — with no clothes on. I pull the shades and draw the draperies. No one can possibly see me.

Last week I confided this to a friend and she said I must be off my rocker—that there is something immoral or sick or both, about a person who would walk around the house with no clothes on.

I don't know why I do it, all I know is I enjoy it. Can you tell me why I do this? Is it sick? Is it immoral?—Lady Godiva

Dear Lady: I can only guess that you enjoy doing your housework with no clothes on because you like the feeling of total freedom — as some swimmers do. Maybe you enjoy the sheer nonconformity of doing your housework in the nude.

If you wish to walk around in your own home naked as a jaybird or wearing a racoon coat, whose business is it? It may be unorthodox, but that doesn't mean it is either immoral or sick.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Some dear friends waited eight years for their baby. The child was born three months ago. Yesterday they learned for certain what they have feared for quite some time. Their child is blind.

We are all heartbroken. Please tell us what to do or say to help the stricken parents face this dark hour in their lives. They will be needing a great deal of emotional support and encouragement. Any suggestion from you will be appreciated. —Sorrowing Friends

Dear Friends: I suggest you give the parents a copy of a book, "The Life of Helen Keller."

This remarkable woman, now 83 years old, was left both deaf and blind at 19 months of age after an illness. She graduated from college with high honors and dedicated her life to serving the cause of the sightless and the deaf. Helen Keller's magnificent story of how she conquered her double affliction

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you mentioned the Graham Paige. How old are you anyway? I haven't heard anyone mention that make of car in at least 25 years. My father owned a G. P. when I was a boy, and I'm no kid.

I'm glad to know you are in my age group. (P. S. Why don't you change that picture they print with your column? It must be 30 years old.)—Days of Yore

Dear Yore: Hold it, Dad—I've heard of the covered wagon, too, but that doesn't mean I rode in one.

The picture that runs with my column was made recently and I was born in 1918. Since you're so good at figuring things, go ahead and figure my age.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1964)
